Come Ride Oklahoma

Spider VW Bug, Lexington

The Butcher BBQ Stand, Wellston

Welcome, riders. We are thrilled that you're considering Oklahoma for your next riding destination. Our state offers an array of festivals, events, destinations and beautiful roadways to accommodate your every riding desire.

From its western prairies to its eastern rolling hills, Oklahoma is filled with history, charm and a culture all its own. It's got more than 400 miles of Route 66, the stunning views and sweeping curves of the Talimena National Scenic Byway and mile after mile of scenic roads hugging its lake shorelines.

A sunrise over the Oklahoma plains will give any riding group a welcome awakening as you rise and ready yourselves for an early morning kickstands up. And the state is dotted with small towns that offer delicious hometown cooking and fresh coffee to get you ready for a full day of riding.

Red Rock Canyon Adventure Park, Hinton

The treasure trove of maps in your hand has been created by local riders to guide you on a variety of tours of our state. You'll find them easy to read and filled with roadside stops, cultural attractions, state parks and eateries that are favored by many and visited often. We've included lists of road numbers to assist in simple, turn-to-turn directions for those without GPS assistance.

After putting some rubber down on the Oklahoma roadways, throw your boots aside and relax. Take in a sunset from high in the mountains or watch it glimmer across one of our many lakes and ponds.

Our temperatures are most inviting to riders between April and October, but many ride year-round as our winter climate often allows a 30-degree day to be followed by a 70-degree day. As you'll read in our events calendar, you can find rides nearly every month of the year.

The most difficulty out-of-state riders may face while riding our plains is the wind. Oklahoma can have days with gusts over 50 mph. These are most often in the spring or as the seasons are changing. On these days, we recommend you keep an eye on the weather radar and be prepared to brace for side winds. While summer temperatures can be high, the summer bike nights are unbeatable as many riders gather for music, road stories, bike shows and food trucks.

Talimena National Scenic Byway

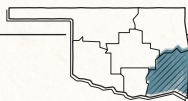

ONE OF THE NATION'S MOST STUNNING FALL FOLIAGE ROUTES

Riding a mountain road, fog is more than a haze affecting one's view of the highway. It's a crisp and refreshing feeling as it rises slowly off the top of the mountain. The sun lifts it gently from the glowing red and golden fall foliage blanketing an October morning. Talimena National Scenic Byway is an asphalt roller coaster along the peak of Oklahoma's most beautiful mountain range. Located in southeastern Oklahoma, this route is a "must ride" offering breathtaking views like none other.

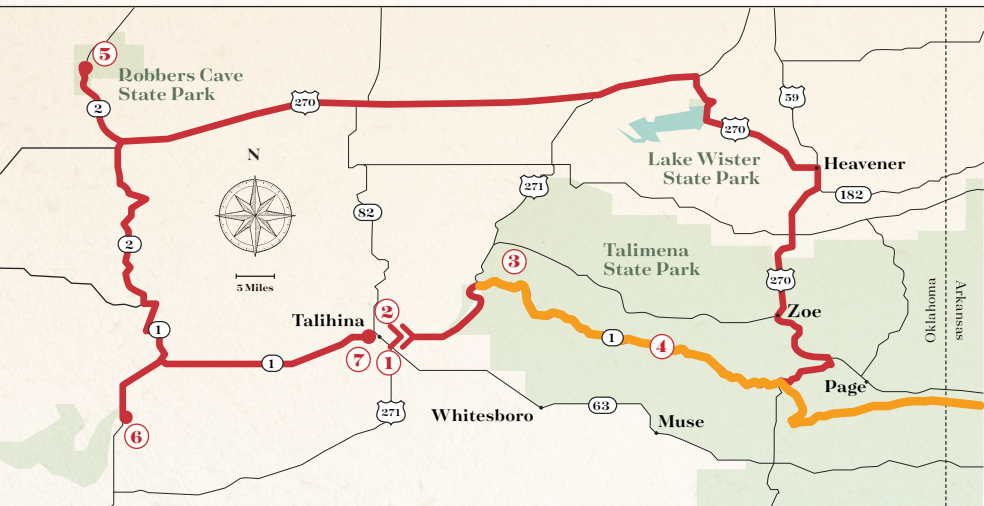

The small, gateway town of Talihina offers lodging and delicious eateries. To the north is the starting point of this 54-mile stretch of State Highway 1 that meanders across the mountaintop. Riding the sweeping curves and coasting down the long hills while anticipating what is around the next bend keeps the rider wanting more. The large number of vistas that dot the route are worth a stop. Riders can take scenic selfies or learn more about the history of the area at the kiosks provided.

Waterway Journey

TAKE A RIDE PAST SOME OF THE STATE'S PRETTIEST WATERWAYS

Twist the throttle and settle in your saddle for a scenic glide through some of the prettiest sights in Oklahoma. Take in the beauty of eastern Oklahoma on this lengthy, site-filled tour.

Meet up with ride buddies in gorgeous Honor Heights Park in Muskogee, a town rich in museums, attractions and music history. Follow the map south, visiting attractions that offer something for everyone — including beautiful gardens, a Civil War battlefield, state parks, a moving memorial and a submarine. (Yes, a submarine.)

This journey offers an incredible ride day filled with lake views, sunsets sparkling across the water and shoreline selfies. Along it lies the largest lake in Oklahoma, Lake Eufaula, as well as Tenkiller Lake, Greenleaf Lake and the Arkansas River. In addition to all the lake views, you'll find several small towns offering plenty of shopping, whether you prefer antique stores or bait shops.

Don't worry, no one's forgotten about three of everyone's favorite reasons to ride: breakfast, lunch and dinner. Plan a stop at one of the Italian restaurants in Krebs — an area of Oklahoma known as Little Italy — or enjoy ribs that fall off the bone at one of Muskogee's barbecue joints. There's plenty of food and fun to be had along this incredible journey.

Cherokee Hills Scenic Byway

EXPLORE TRIBAL HISTORY IN THE OZARK FOOTHILLS

Ride through the winding mountain roads of eastern Oklahoma and learn about the history of the Cherokee Nation. Begin in the small town of Gore and follow State Highway 10 north to Lake Tenkiller, a manmade jewel where anglers cast for trout in the clear waters.

After crossing the dam, lean into the curves and follow State Highway 100 north as it winds through the Cookson Hills. The forested hills are a patchwork of color in the fall and offer cool shade during the summer.

Stop for lunch in Tahlequah, a bustling college town that is the capital of the Cherokee Nation, and take time to explore the many tribal attractions.

Take a short jog east on U.S. Highway 62 and then north on State Highway 10 as it winds along the Illinois River. You can often see sun-soaked tourists floating down the waterway. The road is winding and smooth, perfect for a relaxing ride on a warm summer day.

End the day by turning east on U.S. Highway 412 Alternate to head to West Siloam Springs. If you aren't in a hurry, this older road is much more fun than the newer, four-lane highway that parallels it.

Fort Gibson Lake

A WINDING JOURNEY ALONG SCENIC SHORELINE

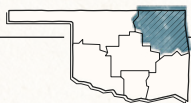

Most riders have that one route where they feel like they're the only ones who know about it. This route has just that sort of best-kept secret in State Highway 80. The lightly used road is a motorcycle rider's paradise of twisting, winding curves that travels along the shores of Fort Gibson Lake.

This trip starts in Tahlequah and follows State Highway 51 west through Hulbert. Watch for signs for State Highway 80 going south from downtown and get ready to enjoy amazing scenery.

The sun glistens across the lake as you drop off the bluff above the dam and hydroelectric plant. Slow down and take it all in as you ride across the dam for the view, but be sure to turn around and continue south along State Highway 80 to Fort Gibson. In this historic town, you can visit the frontier fort established in 1824 to facilitate tribal relations. Then continue on U.S. Highway 62 to Muskogee, which is filled with places to eat, shop and stay — and a park with a World War II submarine to explore.

Asphalt Roller Coaster Trail

CRUISE SOME OF THE STATE'S BEST MOTORCYCLE ROADS

Riding asphalt roller coasters means riders are atop highways that let them effortlessly glide their bikes in a dancelike pattern around curves, up hills and down the other side.

These incredible roads surround the city of Muskogee. (Yes, this is the place Merle Haggard sang about in "Okie From Muskogee.") They loop over the area's rolling hills and circle its beautiful lakes.

This trail includes some of the best roads the region has to offer, passing over and around Fort Gibson Lake, Lake Hudson, Spavinaw Lake and Grand Lake. Muskogee and cities like Grove and Tahlequah offer plenty of opportunities for dining, shopping and outdoor fun, along with numerous lodging options.

If you enjoy a day with ride friends, great views, roadside selfies and small, waterside parks for snack breaks, this is the trip for you. Whether it's searching for that perfect photo spot, chowing down on a hometown burger, finding an off-the-beaten-path tavern or choosing a campsite for the night, you won't be disappointed.

For more from this region, go to visitmuskogee.com/visit to download a ride guide that includes more than 700 miles worth of rides.

Osage Hills

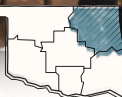

A RIDE THROUGH NORTHEASTERN OKLAHOMA'S ROLLING HILLS

Northeastern Oklahoma is a delightful departure from the flatlands of western Oklahoma. The rolling motion is mesmerizing as you glide over Osage hilltops seeking what is just beyond the next horizon. You'll make sweeping turns as you meander through small hills and valleys, allowing you to gaze over the plains or see interesting rock formations as the road cuts through the hillsides. Mature trees line the roadways in much of this landscape.

Keystone Lake offers area boaters and anglers hours of recreation, and you'll enjoy the beautiful views from atop the surrounding hillsides or at the floating café at Keystone State Park in Sand Springs. While you're traveling north of the lake, the route will take you through small towns filled with curiosities and roadside dining. The Osage Hills area offers unique and rugged landscapes where you may catch a view of bison or wild horses grazing in their natural habitat.

Route 66

CRUISE MORE THAN 400 MILES OF THE MOTHER ROAD

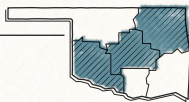

Riding motorcycles is often characterized as the most nostalgic way to travel the United States. Oklahoma has a wealth of experiences to produce those feelings of nostalgia — from the scent of a freshly cut wheat field to the sights of a gorgeous purple, pink and orange sunset across the horizon to the flavors of a delicious, home-style meal from a roadside café. All of these can be found along Route 66.

The most famous and well-ridden road in Oklahoma is the world-renowned Route 66. With more than 400 miles across Oklahoma, this highway delivers a plethora of attractions and sights. Several areas, including Oklahoma City and Tulsa, have multiple alignments of the road that can be explored.

While riding the highway during the summer months, you may meet some of the many international riders who come to America for guided rides along the famous Mother Road from Chicago to Santa Monica, California. There's really no route that treats riders to an amazing road trip like Route 66 through Oklahoma.

TRAVERSE THE CITY AND COUNTRYSIDE TO TRY OKLAHOMA WINE

A fine glass of wine with friends while relaxing among rows of plump, ripe grapes makes for a wonderful afternoon break. Wineries dot the landscape in Oklahoma and produce refreshing and bold selections. This ride includes a sampling of those wineries and vineyards.

If you enjoy drinking wine, you will find endless delightful tastings in Oklahoma. The summer brings a variety of vineyard festivals, music on patios, grape harvests and stomps. An Oklahoma fall proves to be gorgeous with a colorful palette of changing leaves in every part of the state. Sipping from a glass of wine while looking out over a vineyard as the golden, orange and red leaves fall around you could be the perfect end to a destination ride.

You'll find that many of the state's wineries have comfortable overnight guesthouses for your ride group to make yourselves at home. Don't forget to leave room in the saddlebag to take a bottle home.

For more winery locations, visit TravelOK.com/Wineries, where you can see a map of the state's wineries and vineyards and order the Oklahoma Wine Trail brochure. Please remember to always drink responsibly.

TransAmerica Trail

RIDE NORTHERN OKLAHOMA'S BACKROADS

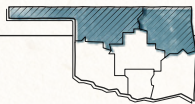

Explore the Oklahoma portion of this mostly off-pavement trail that stretches nearly 5,000 miles across the United States. Dual-sport rider Sam Correro created the trail for dual-sport motorcycles and 4x4s.

The Oklahoma segment stretches across the northern portion of the state, beginning near Westville. It runs through the rolling foothills of the Ozark Mountains before opening up into more wide-open terrain. The trail exits Oklahoma just west of Boise City.

Oklahoma Adventure Trail

A JOURNEY OFF THE BEATEN PATH AND AROUND THE STATE

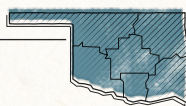

One of America's fastest-growing motorcycle ride groups is adventure riding, and Oklahoma has plenty of trails and back roads to satisfy those who crave an off-road journey. In the early 2010s, two intrepid dual-sport riders looking to explore their state's back roads and off-the-beaten-path places created a dirt and asphalt adventure that runs all over the state.

Riders may spend over a week on this journey exploring natural and historical sites, including only-in-Oklahoma places like the Spiro Mounds and Mount Scott.

The route can be ridden on most small, street-legal motorcycles. However, be prepared for a number of low-water crossings. A few sections are rather challenging but can be simplified by rerouting. While lodging is available, you can also take advantage of many scenic campgrounds along the way. This route is a dream trip for adventure riders of all levels.

HELMET

All riders under 18 are mandated to wear a helmet by state law. Riders over 18 are highly encouraged to always wear a DOT approved helmet, even on short trips. In 2018, 2 out of 3 riders in fatal motorcycle crashes in Oklahoma were not wearing a helmet.

ROAD HAZARDS

It's important to know how to handle your motorcycle in conditions like wet roads, high winds, curves and uneven surfaces. Annoyances like loose gravel and potholes can be major hazards.

RIDE EQUIPPED

Be sure to wear goggles or motorcycle safety glasses to protect your eyes. Completely cover your arms and legs with durable clothing, and wear riding gloves to protect your hands in the event of a crash. Wear boots or shoes that are high enough to cover your ankles.

SHARE THE ROAD.

DISCOVER THE RICH HISTORY OF WESTERN OKLAHOMA

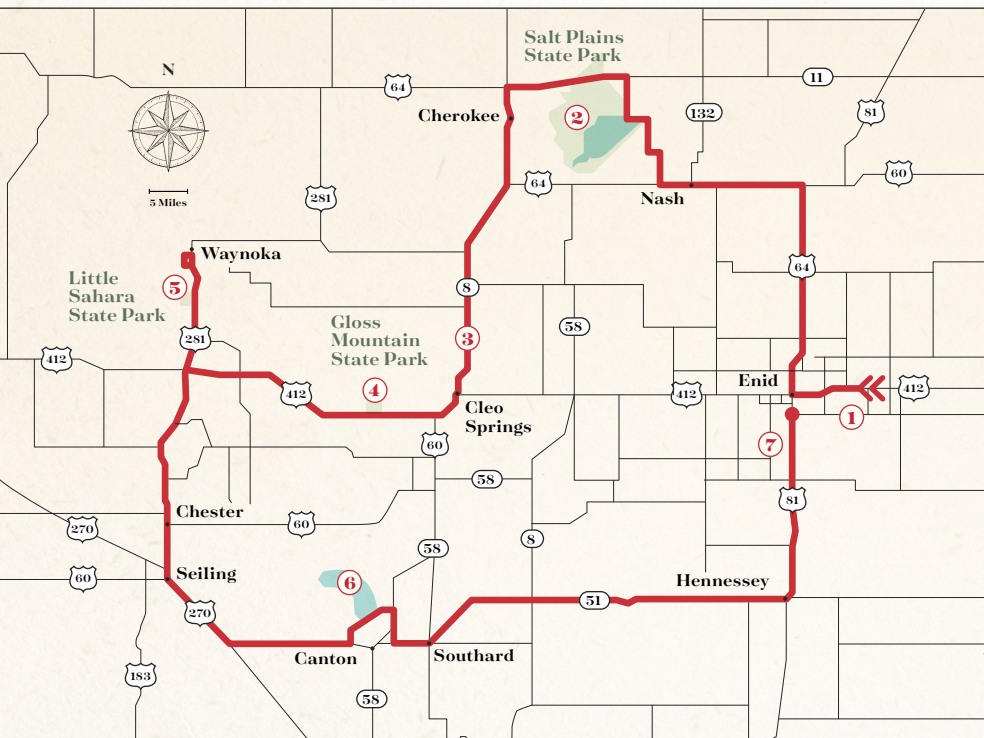

The summer heat rising off the pavement waves at you from the seemingly endless road ahead like an old friend welcoming you into his home. Long, straight stretches of asphalt often carry past your eye's view in the expansive terrain of western Oklahoma. This area will bring you closer to the sights and scenes of the old West than most parts of this flatland. This route glides smoothly along through an area in which the only curves offered are the sweeping correction lines through a wide variety of points of interest and open plains.

Several small towns dot this 250-mile map, offering cafés, fuel stops and establishments for a cold beverage and rider gatherings. You will find historical sites, the state's only saltwater lake, mesas, buttes and a mini-desert of sand dunes. You can even stop at the only place in the world where visitors can bring a shovel or spade and dig for hourglass-shaped selenite crystals. Plan on starting and ending this day-long ride in Enid, a nice-sized town with plenty of hotels, motorcycle shops, food and entertainment.

Windmill Tour

EXPLORE NORTHWESTERN OKLAHOMA'S PAST AND PRESENT

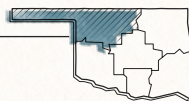

"Oklahoma, where the wind comes sweepin' down the plain," may be one of the most memorable song lyrics from Rodgers & Hammerstein's "Oklahoma," but it's also an accurate description of what you'll experience riding western Oklahoma. Many out-of-state riders will be riding in wind unlike any you've encountered before in these prairie lands where gusts can exceed 50 miles per hour during the spring.

This wind has long been a useful resource for Oklahoma, and on this ride, you can see more than 50 windmills dating back to the 19th century at a museum in Shattuck. You can also catch glimpses along the way of windmills still in use by ranchers. The wind power industry thrives in Oklahoma, and power-generating wind farms can be found along the south end of the route.

There's plenty more to see, though. Seiling is home to a VFW Memorial and Mural honoring veterans. After a stop there, you can head back to Woodward to cool off at Crystal Beach Aquatics Center. Follow it up with a fine steak or barbecue dinner at one of the local eateries. Hotel options are abundant in Woodward, and Boiling Springs State Park has cabins along with RV and tent campsites.

VISIT ANCIENT MOUNTAINS AND A QUIANT RESORT TOWN

The best ride days begin with awakening sunrises and end with calming sunsets. This route is filled with locations for both. It's one you'll be sharing with your ride buddies as soon as you return home. It includes a rare treat: a paved road that circles to the top of Mt. Scott, where you'll find sweeping views of Wichita Mountains Wildlife Refuge.*

From watching bison roam freely throughout the refuge to strolling through the quaint town of Medicine Park, you'll experience unique encounters at every turn. Swooping, gradual turns enhance this entertaining and picturesque ride.

You can visit Fort Sill to visit several museums and go inside some of the base's historic buildings.

In true biker form, you can visit the one-store town of Meers, where The Meers Store & Restaurant has been serving Meersburgers — 7-inch concoctions made of Longhorn beef — since 1901.

Not far from the refuge, you'll find beautiful Quartz Mountain on the shores of Lake Altus-Lugert. Finish off the day in Anadarko, where you'll find several amazing wineries and stops loaded with Native American culture and history.

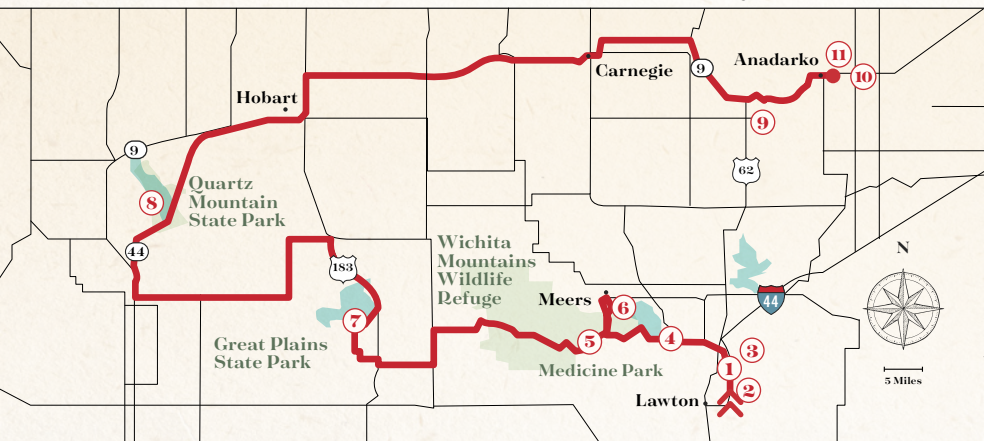

*Please note that the Mt. Scott road is only open to motorcycles and cars during certain hours.

Southern Oklahoma

CAMP UNDER THE STARS ON THIS OLD-SCHOOL ADVENTURE

Throw your tent and slumber pack on that bike. We have a weekend filled with adventurous variety and old-school motorcycle camping — or cabins if that's more your style.

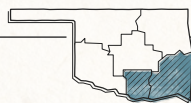

Begin the journey on the west side of the route at Chickasaw Cultural Center. There you can learn the history of the Chickasaw Nation. See how they lived in a replica village, experience hands-on activities and enjoy authentic food at The Aaimpa' Café. For a quick dessert, head over to Bedré Fine Chocolate where fresh chocolate smells delight your senses.

With treats stashed in the saddlebag, you're ready for a great day ahead, rolling over lackadaisical highways and passing through a variety of landmarks like a 77-foot waterfall, a beautiful lake and a circus cemetery in Hugo. We know this sounds like more variety than you knew existed in a short journey through southern Oklahoma, but it's all there waiting for you.

K River Campground is the perfect place to finish up this journey by enjoying nature, sitting around a campfire and doing what riders love most: making new ride friends.
