LETTER FROM THE DIRECTOR

Hello, neighbors, tourists, and friends!

There's never been a better time to live in or visit Oklahoma, and we're proud to both welcome and reintroduce everyone to our beautiful state. My family's been here in Oklahoma for decades, and I've spent most of my adult life discovering both the well-loved and lesser-known treasures our state has to offer, whether it's marathon training up Mount Scott or holding large family reunions at our beloved state parks. Seeing our state up close makes me want to share it with as many people in as many places as I can, which is one of the reasons I'm so proud to lead Oklahoma's Tourism and Recreation Department.

Simply put, tourism in Oklahoma is booming. It's our state's third-largest industry, generating $10.1 billion in direct visitor travel spending in 2021. What does that mean for Oklahoma's cities, towns, and counties? Almost $750 million generated in state and local tax revenue. $2.6 billion in direct earnings generated by travel spending. Over 96,000 jobs for our citizens.

And honestly, we're just getting started.

At Oklahoma Tourism and Recreation, we've dedicated ourselves to making sure everyone gets the most out of their Oklahoma experience. We have more than 30 state parks that serve as a crucial part of Oklahoma's tourism industry and support thousands of jobs – many of them in rural communities. Along with countless other beautiful sites and family-friendly attractions, I have no doubt there's something for everyone to enjoy in Oklahoma. To that end, we've created this travel guide to help you, your family, and your friends plan an unforgettable trip, and we'll keep adding to your options to discover more of our great state.

For example, we've recently reopened all six of our state park restaurants. If you're hungry before, during or after a fun day at Beavers Bend, Lake Murray, Quartz Mountain, Robbers Cave, Roman Nose, or Sequoyah, The Lookout Kitchen offers fresh, locally-sourced ingredients in classic American dishes.

We're also excited to introduce artificial intelligence in order to improve your travel experience in the coming years. We've already used it in the design and writing of this travel guide, and we're developing new ways to use it to make your next trip here the best it can be.

This year, our guide features Oklahoma as "A State for All Seasons." Whichever season you're here for, wherever you're coming from, and wherever you're going, we hope you have an amazing time in Oklahoma!

Safe travels,

Shelley Zumwalt, Executive Director
Oklahoma Tourism and Recreation Department

Here, it's easy to wake up bright-eyed and bushy-tailed. New friendships spring forth in a kingdom for rescued animals. Conveniently located on site, a restaurant offers a smorgasbord of delicious ways to refuel without leaving the park. And a sherbet sunset melts above the lakeside lodge, making way for the sweetest dreams.

Hello, neighbors and travelers!

We're thrilled about what 2024 has brought for everyone traveling to and through Oklahoma.

No matter what season it is, you'll find something to remember at one of our state parks, lodges, or other attractions throughout the state.

As a department, we're constantly thinking about how to make traveling and staying in Oklahoma better for each of you. It starts with this travel guide, but there's a lot more to it than that. We're making long-term commitments to and investments in our state parks, looking to preserve their beauty and improve accessibility where possible. But that's not something we can do alone, so we want to thank our partners for their integral role in making this state a vibrant place to live, work, and visit.

And speaking of important partners, I have to take a moment to acknowledge our incredible staff, whose tireless dedication and deep knowledge of Oklahoma helped make the guide you're reading right now.

We're committed to helping people enjoy everything Oklahoma has to offer. The more people see what an incredible state this is, the more likely they are to come back again, bring their friends and families, and explore our local hidden gems, ultimately driving jobs, businesses, and economic growth.

With all our natural beauty and several exciting upcoming events—such as the April 2024 eclipse and the Route 66 centennial in 2026—there's never been a better time to plan an Oklahoma trip to take in the wondrous sights and go on joyful adventures.

See you soon,

Taylor Nelson, Chief of Staff
Oklahoma Tourism and Recreation Department

SOUTHEASTERN OKLAHOMA

Choctaw Country's picturesque small towns and pristine wilderness areas like the Ouachita National Forest draw visitors looking for relaxation and adventure.

CENTRAL OKLAHOMA

Anchored by Oklahoma's capital city, Frontier Country provides a unique mix of urban and rural as it grows and evolves from its land-run roots.

SOUTHWESTERN OKLAHOMA

The shortgrass prairies of Great Plains Country give way to the stunning Wichita Mountains, an ancient granite range that towers above the landscape.

Great Plains Country Association
(580) 606-2950 | greatplainscountry.com

NORTHWESTERN OKLAHOMA

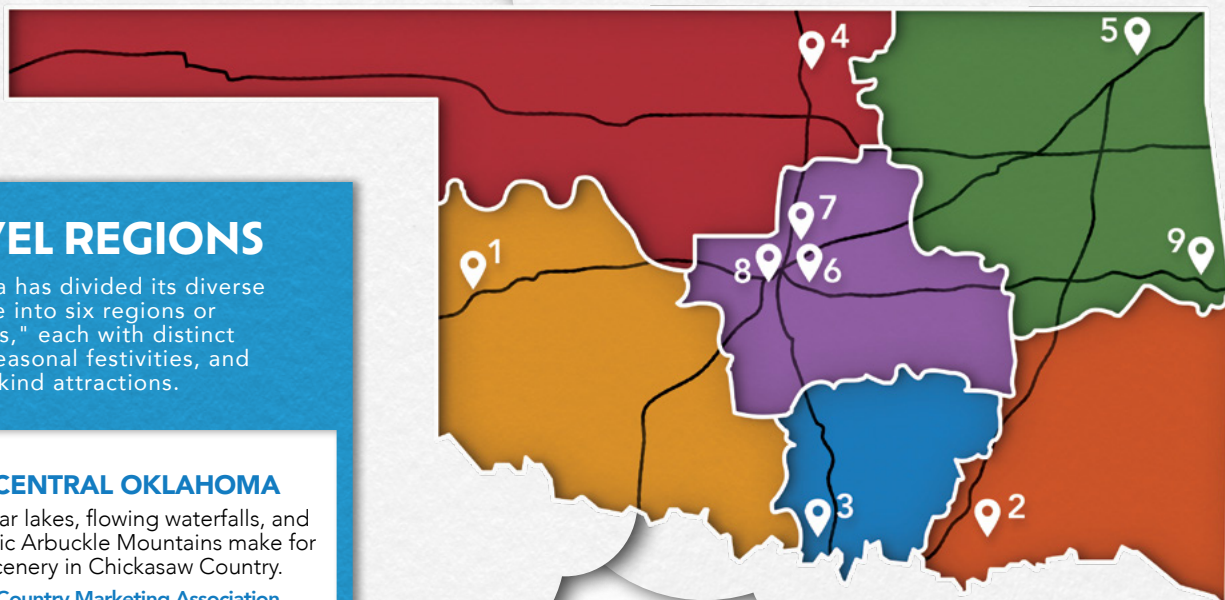

From ancient mesas to sparsely beautiful salt flats, Red Carpet Country's diverse and dramatic landscape draws outdoor enthusiasts from far and near.

OKLAHOMA

TRADITIONS

Thirty-nine tribal nations are headquartered in Oklahoma, and all four seasons usher in a wealth of cultural events. Every spring, the Three Sisters Celebration marks the planting of crops, and festivals showcase Native American art, music, and dance. Summertime brings solstice celebrations and powwows that stretch into fall, when art markets pop up across the state. Even in the colder months, there are winter solstice celebrations and New Year's stickball games. And in all seasons, Indigenous excellence shines in world-class museums, restaurants, and cultural sites.

1 Art Market Season

From festivals and art shows to private galleries and retail shops around the state, Indigenous art is highly visible throughout Oklahoma. The Water Bird Gallery in Pawhuska sells a variety of original works, clothing, and other special pieces.

2 Seasonal Celebrations

The Spiro Mounds Archaeological Center draws hundreds of visitors every year. Built by Caddoan-speaking people who lived here between 850 and 1450 C.E., the twelve ancient mounds at this site align with sunsets during solstices and equinoxes.

3 Museums for All Seasons

Through 175,000 square feet of art, interactive exhibits, videos, and audio recordings, the First Americans Museum in Oklahoma City shares the histories and culture of 39 tribes and nations headquartered in the state.

4 Dance Season

Set to the rhythm of drums, powwows set Native American cultural traditions into vibrant motion. The annual Kaw Nation Powwow in Kaw City celebrates with singing, music, ceremonies, beautiful regalia, and, of course, dancing.

SEASONED

SETTLERS

In Oklahoma, there are state-of-the-art Western museums and hole-in-the-wall steakhouses. Some bulls were born to buck, while the fluffiest heifers among us just want a hug! One season's for picking peaches; another is for frolicking in pumpkin patches. Around here, you can sleep in a covered wagon or a "cowboy luxury" hotel. You can admire bison through binoculars or feed them by hand. And even though this West is still wild, it never gets old. Ready to blaze a trail of your own?

1 Food for All Seasons

Modern buckaroos get a taste of cowboy life each spring at the Chuck Wagon Festival at the National Cowboy & Western Heritage Museum in Oklahoma City, where authentic trail fare is only the beginning of this weekend of ropers, re-enactors, and revelry.

2 Baby Animals Season

Every spring, bison calves take their first steps among the 2,000-plus herd at the Joseph H. Williams Tallgrass Prairie Preserve near Pawhuska. Visitors can charter a tour or hop in their cars to view these fluffy young ones firsthand.

3 Rodeo Season

Rope 'em if you've got 'em. From the Red River to the Panhandle, cowboys and cowgirls saddle up for their eight seconds of glory and other events like barrel racing, steer wrestling, and roping. The Cimarron River Stampede Rodeo in Waynoka brings annual action to the arena.

4 Museums for All Seasons

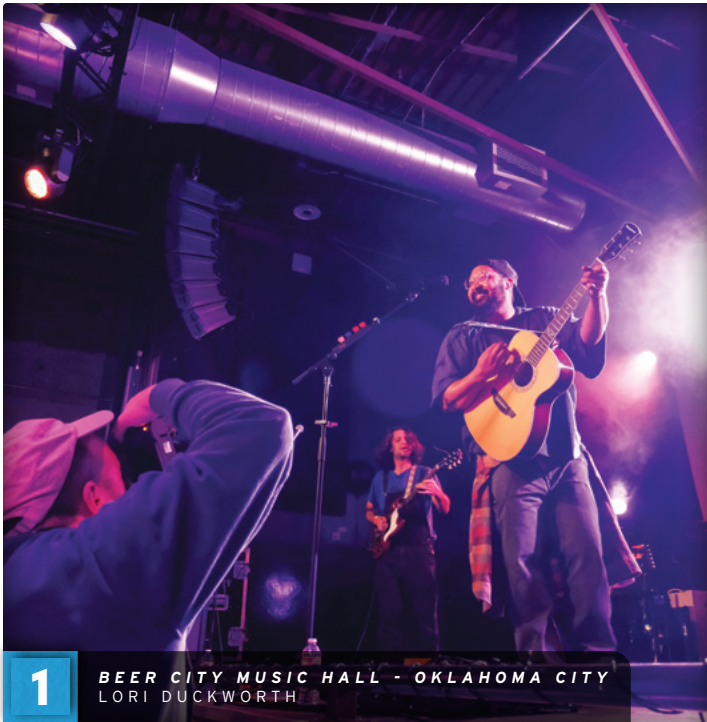

Whether it's "Back in the Saddle Again" or "Here Comes Santa Claus," the classic tunes of America's favorite singing cowboy are familiar favorites any time of year. The Gene Autry Museum in the town of Gene Autry is just one of the state's many Western-centric museums worth exploring.

A CANVAS OF CREATIVITY

Alleys might get a bad rap, but the Magnolia Mile Art Alley in Durant isn't your typical alley. This small-town treasure is the perfect spot for an Instagram stop every time you pass through, as continual additions and seasonal changes keep things fresh. Oklahoma is packed with cultural attractions like this, from big-city concert venues bringing in national acts to small-town galleries and art walks to cultural centers that will introduce you to the state's many Indigenous tribes. So whether you're a classical music buff, a craft beer aficionado, or just looking to learn something new, Oklahoma has the way to scratch that creative itch.

SOLAR ECLIPSE 2024

On Monday, April 8, 2024, North America will experience a total eclipse of the sun—and the path of totality will travel right through Oklahoma. While the whole state will see some of the eclipse, the southeastern quadrant will be in the path of totality, giving visitors a chance at a once-in-a-lifetime experience as the moon's shadow passes over the Ouachita Mountains. Head to the scenic reaches of southeastern Oklahoma to take in the beauty and wonder of this celestial happening.

Travel Season

In addition to cabins and hotels in the zone of totality, check for overnight stays in Durant, Atoka, McAlester, Wilburton, and Sallisaw. All are only a short drive from the zone.

Spring is glorious in southeastern Oklahoma, with daily highs averaging around 75 degrees and lows falling to the mid-40s. Layering, sunscreen, and rain protection are all highly recommended this time of year.

Southeastern Oklahoma also is home to several scenic drives. The most famous of these is the Talimena National Scenic Byway, which winds for 54 miles through breathtaking views of the Ouachita Mountains.

Outdoor Season

Visit one of the eight Oklahoma State Parks in southeastern Oklahoma for eclipse-viewing events. Each offers overnight accommodations like lodges, cabins, RV sites, campsites, and more.

McCurtain County offers outdoor experiences from ziplining to off-roading. Fly high with guided ziplining from Rugaru Adventures or with a private tour from Broken Bow Balloon Rides.

In southeastern Oklahoma, experience fly fishing for trout in the Lower Mountain Fork River and championship bass fishing at McGee Creek Lake, with ample guide services and marinas available.

Curiosity Season

Pairing outdoor adventure with world-class food, southeastern Oklahoma has it all. Check out the culinary scene in Hochatown, featuring award-winning barbecue to fine dining to corn dogs.

If seeing the eclipse has awakened some scientific curiosity in you and your kiddos, stop in at Idabel's Museum of the Red River to meet Acrocanthosaurus atokensis, Oklahoma's official state dinosaur.

For a truly unique overnight stop, book a room at Oklahoma Awesome Adventures at the Endangered Ark Foundation in Hugo, where an Asian elephant will bring your breakfast in the morning.

For a wild encounter, visit the Red Slough Wildlife Management Area, where 5,400 acres of wetlands, woodlands, shrub, and more provide homes to otters, American alligators, and over 300 species of birds.

ECLIPSE SAFETY
ADIL / ADOBE STOCK

Safety Season

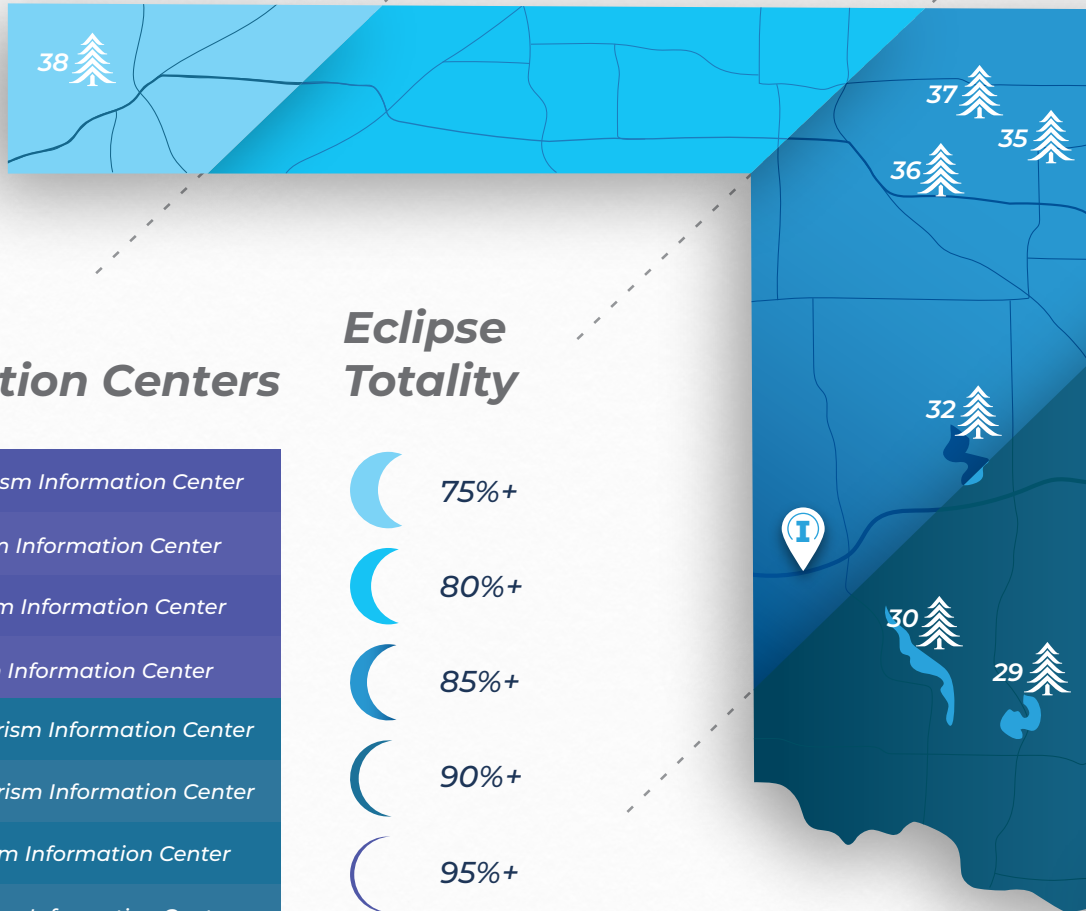

A total eclipse of the sun is a celestial event few get to experience first hand, but it's important to be careful. The only safe way to observe any type of solar eclipse is through special-purpose solar filters like those found in eclipse glasses or viewers. Ordinary sunglasses will not suffice.

Always inspect your filter before use, and never use a scratched or broken filter. Always supervise children as they use their solar filters, and do not point your phone's camera at the eclipse, as it can damage the components within. If you normally wear eyeglasses, leave them on and put your filter over them. And don't forget to look away from the eclipse itself to observe the light and the shadows on the ground.

TRAVEL REGIONS

Whether you're the type to cruise Route 66 or a tallgrass prairie, there's a reason to love every one of Oklahoma's six regions. Hang out with river otters and retired circus elephants. Immerse yourself in Bob Dylan's archives, Indigenous history, and a holographic barber shop. Dig into onion burgers, authentic Lao cuisine, and everything in between! Go wild in gigantic mazes, real dinosaur tracks, and art installations that let you touch everything. Then, keep coming back!

FRONTIER COUNTRY

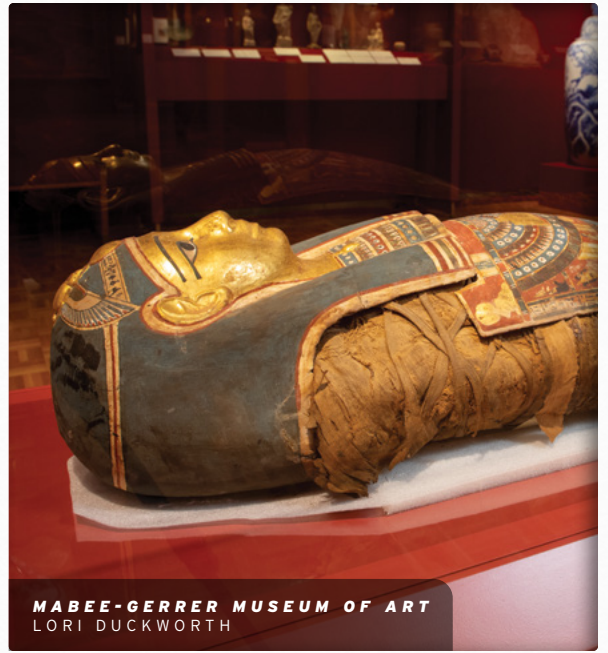

CENTRAL

Home to Oklahoma's two biggest college teams plus the Thunder and the Dodgers, this region is the place to spend almost any sports season. It also has an artsy side, which is evident in its surplus of art museums, murals, music venues, and theaters. With a wealth of spring and summer festivals and no shortage of pumpkin patches or holiday light displays in the chillier months, you'll want to be front and center for anything the Frontier Central region has to offer—in any season!

Each fall, Oklahoma football fans prove their undying devotion to their home team, whether it's the Sooners in Norman, the Cowboys in Stillwater, or the Golden Hurricane in Tulsa.

Oklahoma—the University of Oklahoma Sooners specifically—didn't just win the 2023 Women's College World Series. The state also hosts the NCAA Women's College World Series each spring at the USA Softball Hall of Fame complex in Oklahoma City.

They don't call it the Loud City for nothing. The Oklahoma City Thunder boasts some of the most energetic fans in the NBA. Every game at the Paycom Center is a roaring good time.

Arts for All Seasons

The Mabee-Gerrer Museum of Art in Shawnee is a wonderland of visual masterpieces, historical treasures, and cultural curiosities. One popular attraction is the Tutu mummy who died in approximately 332 B.C.E.

Held in downtown Edmond every third Saturday from March through October, Heard on Hurd is one monster block party featuring more than 60 vendor booths and live performances from local artists.

Seekers of the weird and wonderful will get their fill at Factory Obscura: Mix-Tape in Oklahoma City. This art installation is a collaboration of dozens of local artists who regularly add exciting new features.

Winter • Spring • Summer

The Chickasha Festival of Light has illuminated millions of hearts over the last three decades. In 2020, the city added a giant sculpture of the famous leg lamp from A Christmas Story for even more seasonal whimsy.

The last weekend in April is action-packed in central Oklahoma. You can visit the Norman Music Festival, the Oklahoma City Festival of the Arts, and the Oklahoma City Memorial Marathon.

During the summer, there are so many activities at Riversport in Oklahoma City, adventurers will need to plan multiple visits: surfing, whitewater rafting, kayaking, tubing, skiing, and climbing, to name a few.

Celebration Season

Each October, the joy of Mexican culture is on full display during the annual Hispanic Fiesta. Celebrate with music, costumes, food, and art from local creatives at Oklahoma City's Scissortail Park.

Oklahomans host two Czechian shindigs each year. The first Saturday in May, Prague's Kolache Festival stars the namesake dessert, and the first weekend in October, Yukon hosts the Oklahoma Czech Festival.

Though February isn't great for most flowers, the Myriad Botanical Gardens in Oklahoma City are abloom with Chinese, Japanese, and other Asian cultures during the annual Lunar New Year celebration.

Those with an insatiable sweet tooth might finally find relief at Sweet Sips & Sticks in Norman. The shop's ice cream scoops are rolled in sauce, coated with crunchy candy, and finished with a sweet drizzle.

Whether diners choose the 7- or 10- course tasting experience at Grey Sweater in Oklahoma City, they'll certainly be wowed by 2023 James Beard Award-winning Chef Andrew Black's flavor.

Eischen's in Okarche may be Oklahoma's oldest bar, but most people know it for one thing: Thousands flock here each year to order some of the crispiest golden-fried chicken in the state.

Kendall's Restaurant in Noble serves down-home cooking so good, it makes grandmas everywhere jealous. But it's hard to be salty when eating a perfectly seasoned chicken-fried steak bigger than your head.

Yukon is proud of its Czech roots, and Vladislava's Czech Bakery & Café creates delectable proof each day. In addition to authentic kolaches, the eatery serves savory specialties like klobasa and sauerkraut soup.

Patrons can savor pho, shrimp stuffed dumplings, Shanghai-style spare ribs, and more of the delicacies of Vietnam and China at Golden Phoenix, one of Oklahoma City's most beloved Asian District mainstays.

CHOCTAW COUNTRY

SOUTHEAST

Around here, the Queen of Country reigns supreme and runs a multifaceted establishment, Reba's Place. There's a fossil cast of the official state dinosaur and a BBQ joint with a Food Network champion for a pitmaster. You can bird-watch for 300+ species, lose yourself in a massive maze, and hang out with the second-largest herd of Asian elephants in the world. In the fall, a scenic byway offers breathtaking views of fiery foliage, and there are festivals for Bigfoot and hot air balloons. There are ample reasons to visit this region in every season, so you better start planning!

GREEN COUNTRY

NORTHEAST

Green Country is home to Bob Dylan's archives and Frank Lloyd Wright's only skyscraper. There are multisensory playgrounds, luchador matches, and spring baseball games. Sparkling blue lakes offer a break from the summer heat and a mirror for fall foliage, and light displays illuminate botanic gardens in winter. You can stay in a treehouse or a ritzy 1920s hotel and experience Black Wall Street through holographic technology. There's an art museum inside an old mansion, a famous studio that was once a church, and a classy restaurant that used to be a bank. And Woody Guthrie's legacy lives on.

With sprawling gardens, whimsical playgrounds, and adventures for all ages, it's evident why Gathering Place, Tulsa's 100-acre riverfront park was recognized in Tripadvisor's top 10 percent of attractions worldwide.

Festival Season

Nothing signals the changing of seasons like the food festivals hosted throughout Oklahoma's northeast region. Every spring, thousands of visitors gather at the Stilwell Strawberry Festival to celebrate the plentiful strawberry harvest and the crowning of the newest Strawberry Queen.

For almost 60 summers, the Porter Peach Festival has enticed those far and wide with promises of fresh, juicy peaches and rows of peach-flavored delights. Other summer staples like Jay's Huckleberry Festival or the World's Largest Calf Fry in Vinita allow visitors to participate in quirky, beloved hometown traditions.

Tulsa ushers in the cooler months with Oktoberfest, a jam-packed weekend of Bavarian-style entertainment, giant German bier steins, gleeful polka dancing, and hearty offerings of bratwurst, pretzels, and strudel.

NORTHWEST

Northwest Oklahoma boasts a bevy of natural and manmade treasure. There are salt plains where you can dig up your own souvenirs in the warmer seasons and alabaster caves where thousands of bats lie low through fall and winter. You can wander around massive children's museums or towns lined with murals. There are real dinosaur tracks, mile-high mesas, and Bortle 1 skies that offer unparalleled stargazing opportunities. And in this region, there's even a Mexican restaurant within a tiny airport where the food's so tasty, pilots will land their planes just to eat it!

Adventure for All Seasons

The northwest region of Oklahoma is an outdoor enthusiast's dream come true. Take a hike through the beautiful Black Mesa State Park, which is full of trails, rare plants, and pristine bird-watching. Once the sun goes down, you'll witness some of the darkest nighttime skies available anywhere in the world. Scout out the perfect spot for stargazing during the annual Perseid meteor shower in August or the Okie-Tex Star Party every September. After you've basked in awe of the night sky, spend the night at one of the region's immersive inns like Hitching Post, the Hoot Owl Ranch, or the Black Mesa Bed & Breakfast.

Spring • Summer • Fall

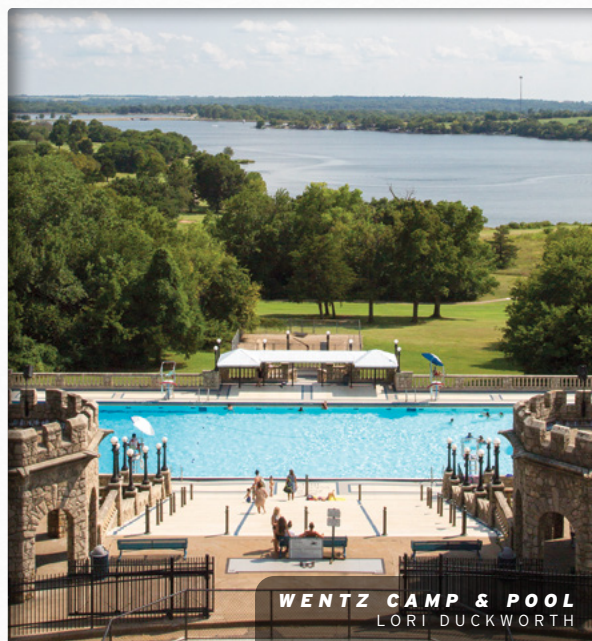

Discover the rare and beautiful treasures that lie just beneath the surface of the Northwest region by embarking on a crystal-digging excursion at the Salt Plains National Wildlife Refuge every April through October.

When the summer sun arrives in the northwest region, escape the heat with a dip in the scenic Wentz Camp & Pool, set against the unique backdrop of two castle-style towers.

Day or night, the large-scale sculptural pavilion known as Under Her Wing Was the Universe is an excellent place for a picnic or just a scenic stroll through Enid.

ADVENTURE JUST MET ITS MATCH.

SO DID FUN, ATMOSPHERE AND CULTURE.

Once "The Oil Capital of the World," T-Town is now rich with resources like countless outdoor and indoor attractions enjoyed by any age including Gathering Place and Greenwood Rising Black Wall Street History Center, a legendary music scene including Cain's Ballroom, The Church Studio and the Bob Dylan Center and dining scene bursting with James Beard Award nominations. Throw in that it's the Capital of Route 66 (with 28-miles of it), and Tulsa really is the city of everything you could ask for... and more.

MARLAND MANSION

Discover the legacy of oil baron E.W. Marland through the fascinating story of his journey to riches during the oil boom and his lasting mark on Ponca City.

The Marland story is fascinating and his home is an architectural wonder. It was designed and constructed as a showplace for pieces of fine art and in the process, it became a masterpiece in its own right. As you tour through this site, we'll show you the mansion and tell you the Marland story. You'll learn about the Marland family, the industry that made it all possible and the "oil boom-town" that rose from it all, Ponca City, Oklahoma.

Open Mon-Sat 10am-5pm
901 Monument Road, Ponca City, OK
580-767-0420
MarlandMansion.com

MARLAND'S GRAND HOME

E.W. Marland built his oil empire and first mansion home in Ponca City in the early 1900s. It is estimated he controlled one-tenth of the world's oil reserves during the 1920s. Marland left the oil industry for a career in politics. In 1932 he became a U.S. Oklahoma congressman and then in 1934, Oklahoma's tenth governor.

Marland's Grand Home showcases diverse collections of Native American Indian artifacts focused on the north central tribes of Oklahoma: Ponca, Osage, Otoe-Missouri, Kaw, Pawnee and Tonkawa. In addition, the museum exhibits items from the Great Plains and Northwest and Southwest tribes. There are over 1,200 artifacts in the historic collection representing the lives of American Indian men, women and children.

AMERICAN INDIAN MUSEUM

Patriarchal displays include items from several societies such as ceremonial clothing and moccasins, tobacco bags, beadwork, musical instruments and pipes. Matriarchal displays also represent several societies and include ceremonial clothing and moccasins, medicine bags, jewelry and children's items including dolls and toys.

Open Mon-Sat 10am-5pm
1000 East Grand, Ponca City, OK

ESTABLISHED 1925 ■ KREBS, OK

Traditional Italian favorites, delicious steaks, lamb fries, chicken and more!

For more than 90 years – spanning four generations of the Prichard family – Pete's Place has been a local institution as well as a destination for travelers world-wide in search of great Italian food and hospitality; where the food is served with the same care and pride as were the original Prichard home recipes so many have grown to love.

Welcome to our house! — Joe, Kathy, Zach, Katie & Blair

PROTECT OKLAHOMA TREES FROM INSECTS AND DISEASES THAT TRAVEL IN FIREWOOD

- Leave firewood at home. Don't transport it to campsites.
- Burn all firewood before leaving campsites. Leftover firewood can house unwanted insects and disease.
- Use locally cut firewood.

For more info, contact Oklahoma Forestry Services at (405) 522-6158 or visit www.forestry.ok.gov.

Food, Fuel & Fizz!

Cruise Route 66 out to the home of the 66-foot tall soda pop bottle! While you are there, pop in and check out hundreds of different soda pops! Then order up a shake and an old fashioned hamburger or a chicken fried steak! Learn more at pops66.com!
