TRACING THE ROUTE

Route 66 starts in Chicago and ends in Santa Monica, California. In between, it stretches through eight states and three time zones, taking travelers straight through the heart of America.

For those traveling east to west, Oklahoma is the fourth state on Route 66. The highway enters Oklahoma from Kansas in the state's far northeast corner, just north of Quapaw. It winds through Oklahoma's two largest cities — first Tulsa and then the state capital of Oklahoma City — before exiting into Texas in the middle of the state's western edge near the tiny town of Texola.

Within Oklahoma's borders are more than 400 drivable miles of Route 66, the most of any state. It's the only place where you'll find a giant blue concrete whale, the world's largest soda pop bottle and an original stretch of one-lane Route 66 pavement. That's just the start of what there is to explore in the Sooner State, but you'll just have to come see for yourself.

EXPLORE THE MOTHER ROAD

Welcome to the Oklahoma Route 66 Guide! This book highlights some of the state's many Mother Road attractions. It is divided into Eastern, Central and Western sections. The entries are arranged in the way that most visitors like to drive Route 66: from east to west.

Please note that many of the attractions listed in this book are not open every day, and some have hours that change seasonally. It's recommended that you call ahead to verify that the businesses you plan to visit will be open.

Wanting to do more in-depth research to plan your drive down Oklahoma's stretch of the Mother Road? Visit TravelOK.com/Route66 to find more attractions and events along the historic highway. You can also download the TravelOK Trip Planner app from the Apple App Store or Google Play Store.

In the 1920s, an Oklahoman helped dream up what would become America's most beloved highway: Route 66. Tulsa businessman Cyrus Avery lobbied strongly for a highway linking Chicago to Los Angeles — and for it to pass through Oklahoma. Avery got both his wishes, and U.S. Highway 66 was commissioned in 1926. Avery called it the Main Street of America. It was an apt name for a road that ran through the hearts of small towns and big cities across the United States, including many in Oklahoma. Route 66 fed those towns, bringing in the business of hundreds of thousands of travelers. In turn, the towns fed the travelers. Mom-and-pop diners, service stations and motor lodges popped up along the highway, and already-existing businesses shined up appearances for the new guests. The locals put out neon signs to draw in customers, cooked up chicken-fried steaks and stayed open around the clock to rent rooms and fix flats.

THE ROAD OF DREAMS

The journey down Route 66 wasn't always a cheerful one. The Great Depression hit hard in 1929, and in the early 1930s, Oklahoma and neighboring states fell victim to what would come to be known as the Dust Bowl. A decade-long drought had combined with farming methods to create conditions in which the states' strong winds blew away topsoil. The resulting dust storms were as damaging as they were terrifying, and much of the states' farmland was rendered temporarily unusable.

Suddenly, Route 66 was flooded with migrant workers heading west, usually to California, with dreams of a better future.

Many of these travelers were Oklahomans, a group whose story was told by John Steinbeck in the 1939 novel, "The Grapes of Wrath." Steinbeck told the fictional tale of the Joad family as they followed Route 66 to California in hopes of finding work. Within the book's pages, Route 66 found another nickname, one that would stick even better than the first. Steinbeck called it the Mother Road.

THE YEARS OF PROSPERITY

Route 66 was officially commissioned in 1926. It was paved throughout the 1920s and 1930s — thanks in part to more urging from Avery. The Mother Road's heyday, though, came during America's years of prosperity after World War II ended in 1945.

America experienced a period of great economic growth, and the mighty U.S. manufacturing industry shifted its focus from war-related items to consumer goods, particularly vehicles. The automobile factories cranked out some beauties during this era — big, chrome-filled cars that were picture perfect and comfortable enough for cross-country travel.

It came as no surprise, then, that these golden years gave rise to the family vacation. With 2,400 miles of attractions big and small, Route 66 was a perfect fit for this phenomenon. Travelers could ride through the Fantastic Caverns in Missouri, picnic next to the world's largest concrete totem pole in Oklahoma, take a quick detour to see the Grand Canyon in Arizona and end up looking out at the Pacific Ocean from California's Santa Monica Pier.

The sense of possibility that Route 66 created was captured in song in 1946, when Bobby Troup wrote "[Get Your Kicks on] Route 66." Opening with the lyrics "If you ever plan to motor west/travel my way, take the highway, that's the best/get your kicks on Route 66," the song struck the right notes with the American public. Jazz vocalist Nat King Cole's version and a later recording by crooner Bing Crosby both made the Billboard charts that year.

America was changing, though, and the prosperity the highway brought to small towns wouldn't last.

THE RISE OF THE INTERSTATES

President Dwight D. Eisenhower had long admired Germany's highway system, and during his second term, he signed the Federal Aid Highway Act of 1956. It authorized the construction of 41,000 miles of interstate highways crisscrossing the nation. It would take decades for the interstates to be completed, but by 1970, almost all of the original Route 66 had been bypassed by four-lane highways. Throughout the 1970s and early '80s, states began to take down their old Route 66 signs. The road was decommissioned in 1985, and maintenance on the old roads tapered off.

A COMEBACK STRAIGHT OUT OF A MOVIE

It turned out, though, that Route 66 was too iconic, too ingrained in American culture to just fade away. Private and government organizations worked to preserve the road themselves. Many small businesses along the route persevered, and new ones opened. Museums sprang up that were dedicated to the culture and cars of the Mother Road.

In 2006, Route 66 was blasted back into the nation's consciousness through an unlikely source: an animated film. The Disney/Pixar movie "Cars" tells the story of hero Lightning McQueen, a sporty red racecar who finds a home and some new friends in the faded Route 66 hamlet of Radiator Springs. With a little love and a lot of new asphalt, McQueen helps his buddies bring the fictional town back to life.

Real-life characters and landmarks inspired many of the people and places from "Cars," helping spark interest in the legendary personalities and quirky stops along Route 66.

EL RENO FRIED ONION BURGER DAY FESTIVAL

El Reno Fried Onion Burger Day Festival

On the first Saturday in May, El Reno residents honor their town's heritage in a big way — by cooking and eating an 850-pound onion burger. The two-day event also offers live music, rides and a car and motorcycle show.

THE MOTHER ROAD TODAY

These days, a drive down the Mother Road shows off a rich blend of the old and the new, and Oklahoma is no exception. In northeastern Oklahoma, there's the Woody Guthrie Center, a state-of-the-art, multimedia affair dedicated to preserving the memory of the 1940s folk singer (and folk hero). In central Oklahoma, the quaint, 100-year-old Round Barn in Arcadia resides just half a mile from the futuristic-looking POPS soda ranch with its gleaming, 66-foot pop bottle sign. Out in the western part of the state, Lucille's Service Station — a relic of the 1920s — is a five-minute drive from Lucille's Roadhouse, a slick throwback diner built in 2006 to emulate it.

And just like when Route 66 was new, the small towns and big cities are filled with friendly locals waiting to serve a chicken-fried steak, fix a flat tire and get visitors back on the road with smiles on their faces. The spirit of the Mother Road lives on in Oklahoma.

The verdant lands of Eastern Oklahoma provide mile after mile of beautiful Route 66 scenery. Along this stretch, you'll find legendary roadside attractions, classic art deco architecture and all the delicious diner food you can handle.

📍 DAIRY KING, COMMERCE

QUAPAW

Dallas' Dairyette

📍 103 N. Main St., Quapaw 📞 (918) 674-9207

Since 1969, the folks at this little burger joint have been keeping locals and Mother Road travelers fed. It's still run by original owner Dallas Wall. Visitors can dine in and play some tunes on the vintage jukebox or get it to-go at the walk-up window. The burgers — especially the taco burgers — and curly fries are the go-to meal for many, but BLTs, tacos, footlong chili dogs, malts and shakes are also popular.

Quapaw Tribal Museum

📍 905 Whitebird St. 📞 (918) 674-2619 📌 TravelOK.com/QuapawTribalMuseum

Learn about the rich history of the Quapaw tribe at this fascinating museum. Artifacts include pottery, traditional clothing and photos. Outside, you'll find the anchor from the U.S.S. Quapaw, a Navy tug ship that saw action in World War II, the Korean War and the Vietnam War. You can also purchase jewelry, Pendleton blankets and other items in the museum gift shop.

COMMERCE

Allen's Conoco Fillin' Station

📍 101 S. Main St. 📌 TravelOK.com/AllensConocoFillinStation

This tiny gas station, also known as the Hole in the Wall Conoco Station, was built onto the side of a Main Street building back when Route 66 was newly paved.

Dairy King

📍 100 N. Main St. 📞 (918) 675-4261 📌 TravelOK.com/DairyKing2

Stop by this cottage-style former gas station for a burger, soft-serve ice cream and handmade Route 66 cookies. The cookies are shaped like the Route 66 shield, and they're delicious. Co-owners Charles Duboise and his mother Treva will happily fill you in on the history of Commerce.

The town's story includes a famous citizen — Mickey Mantle — and a Bonnie and Clyde shootout. Don't forget to bring cash, as they don't accept checks or credit cards.

Mickey Mantle's Boyhood Home

📍 319 S. Quincy St. 📞 (918) 542-4435 📌 visitmiamiok.com

The tiny town of Commerce has a Big Apple-sized claim to fame. It's the hometown of legendary New York Yankee slugger Mickey Mantle. Baseball fans will get a kick out of the town's pinstripe-painted water tower with Mantle's No. 7 on the side, and they can drive by Mantle's boyhood home and see the spot in front of an old barn where the baseball legend learned to hit.

Mickey Mantle Statue

📍 400 S. Mickey Mantle Blvd. 📞 (918) 675-4373

👉 TravelOK.com/MickeyMantleStatue

In 2010, more than four decades after baseball icon Mickey Mantle's retirement, Commerce honored its hometown hero with a 9-foot bronze statue. It resides just beyond the center-field wall of Mickey Mantle Field and can be seen from Route 66. The work, which shows Mantle finishing a swing right-handed (he could famously hit from either side), was cast from an original piece of art by local artist Nick Calcagno.

MIAMI

The Frozen Elephant Shaved Ice

📍 1931 N. Main St., Miami 📞 (918) 961-7014

Started in 2016 by then-15-year-old Eli Chenoweth, this stand has become a popular spot thanks to its soft, fluffy shaved ice treats that come in a variety of flavors. One customer favorite is a little sourer than you might expect; the pickle shaved ice is flavored with pickle juice and has a pickle spear down the middle. The stand operates from late March through late August.

Waylan's Ku-Ku Burger

📍 915 N. Main St. 📞 (918) 542-1696

👉 TravelOK.com/WaylansKuKuBurger

With a massive neon sign, cuckoo clock-inspired building and bird mascot bedecked in a chef's hat, this burger joint is a must-see in Miami. Made-to-order burgers, crispy fried pickle spears and cherry limeades make the last surviving Ku-Ku Burger worth a stop for a meal. The rest of the chain went extinct in the late 1960s.

Coleman Theatre

📍 103 N. Main St. 📞 (918) 540-2425

👉 colemanttheatre.org

Hear the lush sounds of a Mighty Wurlitzer pipe organ as you tour this opulent building. Built in 1929 as a vaudeville theater, it has a Spanish Mission Revival-style exterior with exquisite details carved into the terracotta. The stunning interior décor includes a 2,000-pound restored chandelier and carved, winding staircases. The theater still hosts many events, including concerts, theatrical productions and silent movies with musical accompaniment from the Mighty Wurlitzer.

Dobson Museum & Memorial Center

📍 110 A St. S.W. 📞 (918) 542-5388

👉 dobsonmuseum.com

This museum features rotating exhibits on the history of the area. Many of the items on display are pulled from its collections, which include American Indian artifacts, Texaco marketing memorabilia and photos of Yankee legend and area native Mickey Mantle. Surrounding it are beautiful gardens filled with perennials and annuals.

Ribbon Road

📍 South of Miami 📞 (918) 542-4435

👉 visitmiamiok.com

Also known as the Sidewalk Highway, these two unassuming 3-mile stretches are the only remaining one-lane road left from the original Route 66 alignment. One links Miami and Narcissa, and the second links Narcissa and Afton. Completed in 1922, the pavement actually predates the Mother Road. It's only 9 feet wide except for areas at two sharp curves where the road banks and widens. These segments of road were part of Route 66 until it was widened and realigned in 1937.

AFTON

Nowhere on Route 66 Barbecue

📍 300 S.E. First St. 📞 (918) 919-4111

👉 TravelOK.com/NowhereOnRoute66

This cozy spot is known for dry-rub ribs, tender pulled pork and yummy potato salad. If you're not in the mood for barbecue, they also make a mean hamburger. Don't get so focused on the food that you forget to look around — vintage photos of the town line the walls, and the ceiling features a pattern of bandanas and burlap sacks.

Darryl Starbird's National Rod & Custom Car Hall of Fame Museum

📍 55251 E. State Highway 85A 📞 (918) 257-4234

👉 darrylstarbird.com

Futuristic styles, bubble-top roofs and bright colors are the hallmarks of custom cars Darryl Starbird started designing in the 1950s. The museum features more than 50 cars, including many of Starbird's designs along with other exotic vehicles and memorabilia. If Starbird's name sounds familiar, it's probably because his car customization prowess earned him a mention in the classic movie "American Graffiti." From late November through February, the museum is open by appointment only.

📷 CLANTON'S CAFE, VINITA

📷 DARRYL STARBIRD'S NATIONAL ROD & CUSTOM CAR HALL OF FAME MUSEUM, AFTON

📍 MEADOW GOLD SIGN, TULSA

VINITA

Clanton's Cafe

📍 319 E. Illinois Ave. 📞 (918) 256-9053

👉 clantonscafe.com

Since "Sweet Tator" Clanton started serving lunch in 1927, Clanton family members have kept locals and hungry travelers fed with classic diner food that they've perfected over the years. Their chicken-fried steak is the stuff of legend, and these days they crank out 50,000 portions a year. Locals also rave about their cream pies and chicken and dressing.

Eastern Trails Museum

📍 215 W. Illinois Ave. 📞 (918) 323-1338

👉 eastertrailsmuseum.com

Just a block off Route 66, this free museum recreates the town's early years with rooms set up like a post office and general store. The Street Scenes exhibit contains vintage photos and memorabilia from the Mother Road's heyday. Vintage saddles, weapons and phonographs are also among the museum's many treasures.

CHELSEA

Pryor Creek Bridge

📍 First St.

👉 TravelOK.com/PryorCreekBridge

This 123-foot, steel truss bridge was part of the original Route 66 alignment. It carried Mother Road traffic from 1926 to 1932. It's the only unaltered bridge with its particular structure — known as the “Pratt through truss” design — left in Oklahoma. It's no longer open to traffic, but you can walk across.

Route 66 Pedestrian Underpass Mural

📍 Walnut St. & W. Sixth St. 📞 (918) 789-2220

👉 TravelOK.com/Route66Underpass

In 2016, Chelsea reopened its restored Route 66 pedestrian underpass with a new mural. Created by Sapulpa artist Kenneth Hollingshead, it features postcard-like images from the town's history. Bring a pen to sign your name on the other side of the underpass, which is open for visitor signatures.

Ed Galloway's Totem Pole Park

📍 21310 State Highway 28A 📞 (918) 283-8035

👉 rchs1.org/totem-pole-park

With its colorful, 90-foot carved concrete totem pole and a museum of handmade fiddles, this park is one of Oklahoma's quirkiest Route 66 attractions. And it's located just a few miles off the Mother Road. Folk artist Ed Galloway started building the totem pole in 1937 as a tribute to American Indians. Make sure to get an up-close look at the incredible detail on it and the smaller totems throughout the park.

📍 HAMMETT HOUSE RESTAURANT, CLAREMORE

FOYIL

Andy Payne Statue

📍 State Highway 66 📞 (918) 342-9525

👉 TravelOK.com/AndyPayneStatue

In 1928, Foyil native Andy Payne won the Great Transcontinental Footrace, a 3,400-mile race from Los Angeles to New York City that closely followed the brand-new Route 66. Nicknamed the Bunion Derby, the race took 84 days — at least for the 55 runners who actually finished. The 20-year-old Payne, a member of the Cherokee tribe, returned to Oklahoma with his $25,000 prize money. He later served for decades as clerk of the Oklahoma Supreme Court. His hometown honors Payne with a statue that sits just east of the highway on the south side of town.

📍 ED GALLOWAY'S TOTEM POLE PARK, CHELSEA

📍 J.M. DAVIS ARMS & HISTORICAL MUSEUM, CLAREMORE

CLAREMORE

J.M. Davis Arms & Historical Museum

📍 Fifth St. and State Highway 66 📞 (918) 341-5707

👉 thegunmuseum.com

During his lifetime, Claremore hotelier J.M. Davis amassed more than 12,000 guns — the largest privately held firearm collection in the world. Today, the collection includes weapons made from 1350 to 2015. Make sure to check out the Gallery of Outlaw Guns to see Jesse James' Smith & Wesson revolver, a Colt 45 belonging to Bonnie Parker (of Bonnie and Clyde fame) and four of Charles "Pretty Boy" Floyd's guns. There's also a fascinating — if somewhat macabre — display of artifacts from hangings of murderers in the 1930s, including nooses, black hoods and eye bands.

Hammett House Restaurant

📍 1616 W. Will Rogers Blvd. 📞 (918) 341-7333

👉 hammetthouse.com

If you're looking for country cooking, Hammett House Restaurant fits the bill with favorites like pork chops, country fried steak and lamb fries. It's the desserts, though, that are the stuff of legend. The folks at Hammett House make 14 different pies each day in flavors like coconut cream and peanut butter chocolate chip. These aren't just any pies, though. They're topped with masterpieces of meringue that stretch to roughly 7 inches tall, and they often weigh in at more than 10 pounds apiece!

Will Rogers Memorial Museum

📍 1720 W. Will Rogers Blvd. 📞 (918) 341-0719

👉 willrogers.com

Cowboy philosopher Will Rogers is an American icon, and one of Route 66's nicknames has long been the Will Rogers Highway. Learn about the beloved humorist's life at this museum built on land he once intended for his home. You can watch Rogers' movies in the theater, pay respects at his tomb and see memorabilia from his career. There are movie posters, pieces from Rogers' saddle collection and the typewriter he used to write his newspaper columns.

Belvidere Mansion

📍 121 N. Chickasaw Ave. 📞 (918) 342-1127

Constructed in 1907, this 9,000-square-foot Victorian mansion is stunning — and rumored to still be visited by members of the Bayless family, its original inhabitants. Take a self-guided tour of the three-story home, which includes a third-story ballroom with panoramic views of the city. Then enjoy a tasty sandwich, salad or quiche at the mansion's restaurant, a Claremore favorite known as The Pink House.

Swan Brothers Dairy Farm

📍 938 E. Fifth St. 📞 (918) 341-2298 👉 swandairy.com

Visit this family-owned dairy farm that's been around 95 years to stock up on raw milk and cheeses made on-site, including the customer favorite cheese curds. There are plenty of other Oklahoma-made goodies available, including local honey and produce. Tours of the milking parlor are sometimes available, but you'll need to call in advance to check availability.

Route 66 Nut House

📍 26677 S. State Highway 66 Unit A

📞 (918) 266-1604 | (888) 732-2665 👉 66nuts.com

If you're running low on road-trip munchies, make a stop at this shop. It's known for fresh, locally grown pecans. The small cabin is even made from pecan logs, but many other tasty treats are available. The shop has every flavor of homemade fudge you can imagine, along with some (like cotton candy and blueberry cheesecake) that you probably hadn't imagined.

There are also tons of fun Route 66 and Oklahoma-made goodies for sale.

📍 BLUE WHALE, CATOOSA

CATOOSA

Tulsa Port of Catoosa and Oklahoma Maritime Education Center

📍 5350 Cimarron Rd. 📞 (918) 266-2291 | (888) 572-7678

👉 tulsaport.com

Take a self-guided driving tour of one of the largest inland river ports in the United States. Then head over to the free education center to learn about the history and importance of the port, the Arkansas River and the McClellan-Kerr Navigation System. Interactive exhibits include a motorized model of a lock and dam and the port's first tugboat, the M/V Charley Border.

Molly's Landing

📍 State Highway 66 & Verdigris River Bridge

📞 (918) 266-7853 👉 mollyslanding.com

Nestled among the trees just off an old strip of Route 66, the rustic log cabin that houses this restaurant feels cozy and a bit remote. There's no missing the entrance, though — it's a section of the Bird Creek Bridge that once carried westbound Mother Road traffic. Inside the restaurant, the quaint but cluttered décor somehow feels romantic instead of crowded, and the menu is made up of perfectly grilled steaks, seafood and game.

Blue Whale

📍 2680 State Highway 66 📞 (918) 232-5098

👉 TravelOK.com/BlueWhale

When an 80-foot-long concrete whale appeared in a pond along Route 66 in the early 1970s, it quickly drew in visitors who appreciated its toothy grin and the attached swimming hole. Today, that friendly blue face is still a welcome sight (although you can't go for a swim these days).

Make time to stop for a selfie and a picnic.

D.W. Correll Museum

📍 19934 E. Pine St. 📞 (918) 266-3612

Trace the history of the automobile through antique cars, wagons and surreys dating from the late 1800s to the 1950s. There's a steam-powered Locomobile from 1898, a purple 1906 Cadillac and an all-aluminum 1922 Franklin. More gems — literally — are housed in the museum's second building. It contains thousands of fossils, rocks and minerals along with other treasures like antique bottles and toys.

TULSA

Route 66 Rising

📍 Mingo Road & Admiral Place

Built in 2018, this contemporary sculpture at Avery Traffic Circle celebrates Tulsa's rich Mother Road history. It's about 70 feet long and 30 feet high, and it was designed by Eric F. Garcia. The traffic circle is the former site of a tourist court that belonged to Cyrus Avery.

3624 N. 74th E. Ave. (918) 834-9900
tulsamuseum.org

Learn about Tulsa’s rich aviation history while exploring a museum filled with interactive exhibits and vintage airplanes. Flight simulators let you feel what it’s like inside the cockpit, and the full dome planetarium will have you seeing the universe in a whole new light.

Tulsa Zoo

6421 E. 36th St. N. (918) 669-6600
tulsazoo.org

With countless species and 84 acres of exhibits, the Tulsa Zoo is a perfect way to spend an afternoon outdoors. Make sure to check out the Lost Kingdom Exhibit, an immersive environment inspired by ancient Asian cultures. It’s home to rare species like Malaysian tigers, snow leopards and Chinese alligators. New for 2020 is the Helmerich Playground: Behaving Like Animals, which provides an inclusive play space for kids of all ages.

Admiral Twin Drive-In

7355 E. Easton St. (918) 392-9959
admiraltwindrivein.com

If you’re traveling during the spring or summer, you can take in a movie at the same place Ponyboy and his friends did in the 1981 movie “The Outsiders.” One of the state’s few remaining drive-in theaters, the Admiral Twin opened in 1951 with one screen, but a second was soon added. A 2010 fire destroyed both screens, but the theater reopened two years later and still shows nightly double features during the warm-weather months.

TALLY’S CAFE, TULSA

Tally’s Cafe

1102 S. Yale Ave. (918) 835-8039 tallyscafe.com

If your time on the road has helped you work up a king-sized appetite, it’s time to head to Tally’s Cafe. This Route 66 stalwart serves heaping portions of classic American food. With more than 100 items on the menu, everyone in the family is sure to find an item that suits their taste. For dessert, you can split one of the icing-drizzled cinnamon rolls, which are as big as the plate and absolutely delicious.

Golden Driller

4145 E. 21st St. (918) 744-1113
exposquare.com

Stop for a selfie with Tulsa’s golden boy. The Tulsa Driller became a permanent fixture at the fairgrounds in 1966 after his predecessors drew a crowd at a trade show exhibit. He’s 76 feet tall and weighs nearly 22 tons. But somehow he manages a slim waistline that he shows off with a belt buckle emblazoned with the word “TULSA.” Fair season (late September to early October) is the best time to visit him, of course, but during the summer months you can get a snow cone from the stand just steps away.

Circle Cinema

📍 10 S. Lewis Ave. 📞 (918) 585-3456

👉 circlecinema.com

Opened in 1928, the Circle Theater is Tulsa's only remaining historic movie house. Today, it specializes in independent, documentary and foreign films. On the sidewalk out front, you can check out the Oklahoma Walk of Fame. It honors film legends with Oklahoma ties, including Gary Busey, James Garner, Ron Howard, Chuck Norris and Brad Pitt. (Be careful, that's a lot of awesomeness for one walk of fame.)

Mother Road Market

📍 1124 S. Lewis Ave. 📞 (918) 984-9001

👉 motherroadmarket.com

A historic grocery building has been transformed into Tulsa's first food hall. In addition to a carefully curated selection of dining options, the complex contains retail shops, a full-service bar and a T-shirt vending machine featuring Oklahoma-themed shirts.

El Rancho Grande

📍 1629 E. 11th St. 📞 (918) 584-0816

👉 gettexmex.com

El Rancho Grande has been a Route 66 staple since 1953. While its iconic neon sign certainly draws in travelers, it's the tasty Tex-Mex and strong margaritas that keep locals coming back. The most-requested item is the Night Hawk, which features two cheese and onion enchiladas doused with chili con carne and cheddar. It's served with a soft cheddar cheese taco topped with queso.

The Church Studio

📍 304 S. Trenton Ave. 📞 (918) 894-2965

👉 thechurchstudio.com

Get a dose of rock-and-roll history by booking a tour at this recording studio that was once the epicenter of the Tulsa Sound. Built in 1915 to serve as a church, it went on to become the home of Leon Russell's Shelter Records, with artists like Eric Clapton, Tom Petty and JJ Cale recording there. The renovated facility is now a top-of-the-line studio with exhibits filled with music memorabilia.

Ike's Chili House

📍 1503 E. 11th St. 📞 (918) 838-9410

👉 ikeschilius.com

Open since 1908, Ike's Chili House serves up dishes beloved by generations of locals, including legendary humorist Will Rogers, who was an early regular of the restaurant and a chili connoisseur. Ike's has a surprisingly big menu for a chili joint, but most folks prefer the Three-Way. The daunting but delicious concoction features beef chili and beans on a bed of spaghetti noodles with diced onions, shredded cheddar and sliced jalapeños on the side.

Buck Atom's Cosmic Curios on 66

📍 1347 E. 11th St. 👉 buckatomson66.com

Stop for a selfie with Buck Atom, a 21-foot space cowboy. Buck arrived in 2019, but he stands tall in the proud tradition of the Muffler Men statues who began popping up at Route 66 businesses in the 1960s. Next to Buck sits a colorful neon sign, installed in 2020, and a 1950s-era PEMCO gas station that houses a Route 66 souvenir shop filled with apparel, toys, art and more, much of which is locally made.

Meadow Gold Sign

📍 11th St. & Quaker Ave.

First installed in the 1930s, this massive neon sign advertising Meadow Gold Dairy has become a Route 66 icon. When the building it rested on was set to be demolished, the community worked to save and restore the sign. Today, it stands a mile west of its original location atop a pavilion built just for it. Check out the plaques on the pavilion to learn more about the sign's history.

The Outsiders House Museum

📍 731 N. St. Louis Ave., Tulsa 📞 (917) 555-1212

👉 theoutsidershouse.com

Go behind the scenes of the classic movie "The Outsiders," which Francis Ford Coppola filmed in Tulsa in 1982, at this museum located in a house used in filming. The museum is dedicated to the preservation of the home and memorabilia used in the movie, which was based on the 1967 book, "The Outsiders," written by Tulsa resident S.E. Hinton.

Cherry Street District

📍 15th St. between Utica Ave. & Peoria Ave.

This stretch is filled with locally owned businesses, including unique restaurant and bar concepts like

📍 CIRCLE CINEMA, TULSA

SMOKE Woodfire Grill, a fine-dining restaurant serving locally sourced, American-inspired cuisine. And don't miss Kilkenny's Irish Pub, which serves up Irish comfort food and has a massive drink menu.

Philbrook Museum of Art

📍 2727 S. Rockford Rd. 📞 (918) 749-7941

👉 philbrook.org

This unique museum is one of the state's cultural gems. Its permanent collections reside in a grand historical mansion set on 25 acres of exquisitely manicured, Italian-inspired gardens. The museum's art pieces represent an incredible variety of different styles and time periods. You'll see items from its extensive collections of Native American, modern and contemporary art as you wander the three stories of opulent Villa Philbrook.

Gathering Place

📍 2650 S. John Williams Way E. 📞 (918) 779-1000

👉 gatheringplace.org

Opened in 2018, this visually stunning park has quickly become a must-visit stop. You'll find whimsical play areas, lush gardens, public art displays and several dining options. There's even a boathouse where you can check out a paddle boat, canoe or kayak for free and explore from the water.

Weber's Superior Root Beer Restaurant

📍 3817 S. Peoria Ave. 📞 (918) 742-1082

👉 webersoftulsa.com

It'd be tough to find a pair of menu items more time-tested than Weber's burgers and root beer. Both started in the late 1800s with Oscar Weber Bilby, great-grandfather of current owner Rick Bilby. In fact, it is believed that the concoctions Oscar whipped up for his 1891 Fourth of July party might have been the first hamburgers ever. The stand's burgers are still cooked on that same handmade grill Oscar used, and the resulting old-fashioned burgers are mighty tasty. But it's the rich, spicy root beer — made by Oscar's special recipe — that you'll find irresistible. It's served in mugs at the stand but is also bottled so that you can take some home.

Boston Avenue United Methodist Church

📍 1301 S. Boston Ave. 📞 (918) 583-5181

👉 bostonavenue.org

Downtown Tulsa is filled with beautiful art deco buildings, and this church is one of its most stunning pieces. Designed by Bruce Goff and Adah Robinson, the building's exterior has a soaring, 15-story tower and numerous terracotta sculptures. Inside, the circular sanctuary is just as stunning, featuring the exposed pipes of a pipe organ along with a dome ceiling with stained glass at the center. Free guided tours are available Sundays at noon, and you can take a self-guided tour any time the building is open.

📍 GATHERING PLACE, TULSA

Blue Dome Entertainment District & Blue Dome Service Station

📍 Second St. & Elgin Ave.

👉 bluedomedistrict.com

Locally owned shops and restaurants fill the area surrounding the Blue Dome Service Station, a 1924 art deco-style structure that now serves as office space. The district comes alive in the evenings with a variety of bars, a comedy club, a bowling alley and a pub/arcade.

Greenwood Rising

📍 10 N. Greenwood Ave. Suite 2021, Tulsa

Opened in 2021 — the centennial of the Tulsa Race Massacre — this state-of-the-art history center tells the story of Tulsa's Greenwood District, the famed Black Wall Street. The district was a center for black commerce and a hotbed for jazz and blues before being burned to the ground in the 1921 massacre. The center's immersive exhibits use techniques like projection mapping and holographic effects to tell the story of the prosperous early days, the horrors of the 1921 massacre and the strength of the community as it worked to rebuild.

Greenwood Cultural Center

📍 322 N. Greenwood Ave. 📞 \(918\) 596-1020

👉 greenwoodculturalcenter.com

In 1921, the vibrant Greenwood District was destroyed as much of it burned to the ground in the Tulsa Race Massacre. The photos and artifacts at the Greenwood Cultural Center help share the poignant story of the district's destruction and resurrection. The building also contains an African-American art gallery with contemporary works by local artists.

Center of the Universe

📍 20 E. Archer St. 📞 \(800\) 558-3311

👉 TravelOK.com/CenterOfTheUniverse

Located on a pedestrian bridge, this 30-inch concrete circle is an acoustic oddity. To try it, stand inside the circle, which is in the middle of a larger circle of bricks. If you have someone with you, station them outside the circles. Now, say something. You'll hear your words echo back louder than you spoke them, but anyone standing outside the circle won't hear the echo. If you try talking to someone outside the circle, your voice will be distorted.

Bob Dylan Center

📍 116 E. Reconciliation Way 📞 \(918\) 392-3483

👉 bobdylancenter.com

Opened in May 2022, the 29,000-square-foot center houses more than 100,000 Bob Dylan artifacts from his personal collection, including handwritten manuscripts, videos, photos, artwork, memorabilia and previously unreleased recordings. While the archives will be open only to researchers, curated exhibits featuring items from the collection will be on display.

Woody Guthrie Center

📍 102 E. Reconciliation Way 📞 \(918\) 574-2710

👉 woodyguthriecenter.org

More than 50 years after his death, the music and message of Woody Guthrie, who grew up in Okemah, endures. At the center that shares the folk singer's story, you can listen to his music, try a virtual reality Dust Bowl experience, and trace his journey across the United States on a 9-foot interactive touchscreen map. The center's artifacts include handwritten lyrics to "This Land Is Your Land" and the well-traveled fiddle that Guthrie brought along on his World War II journeys.

PLANNING A SIDE TRIP

TAKE A DAM TOUR, SEE A CIVIL WAR BATTLE SITE OR ENTER THE PIONEER WOMAN'S TURF

Want to see more of Oklahoma while you're cruising Route 66? Here are some Eastern Oklahoma adventures to spice up your journey.

15 MINUTES AWAY → Pensacola Dam, Langley

Drive across one of the world's largest multi-arch dams. Free dam tours are available from Memorial Day weekend through Labor Day weekend. (918) 256-0803 | grda.com

20 MINUTES AWAY → Keystone State Park, Sand Springs

This park is perfect for fishing and hiking. There's even a stocked fishing pond just for kids. Cozy cabins are available if you're ready to get off the road for the night. (918) 865-4991 | TravelOK.com/Keystone

25 MINUTES AWAY → Cabin Creek Battlefield, Big Cabin

Take a self-guided tour at the site of two Civil War battles, both sparked by Confederate forces raiding Union wagon trains along the crucial Texas Trail. (918) 456-2751 | okhistory.org

1 HOUR AWAY → The Pioneer Woman Mercantile, Pawhuska

Stop for some shopping at Food Network star Ree Drummond's famous mercantile. You can purchase her cookbooks, kitchen supplies and fun, made-in-Oklahoma goodies. When you're done, sit down for a meal at her mouthwatering restaurant. But get there early — the line for the restaurant can stretch around the block! (918) 528-7705 | themententile.com

Cain's Ballroom

423 N. Main St. (918) 584-2306 | cainsballroom.com

In the 1930s, Cain's Ballroom became famous as the home of Bob Wills and His Texas Playboys, whose catchy Western swing tunes were broadcast live from the stage at Cain's. These days, musicians of every genre hit the stage at this venerable venue. The old dance hall still hosts live music three to four times a week, and it's definitely worth catching a show there if you can swing it.

Tulsa Cave House

1623 W. Charles Page Blvd. (918) 378-1952 | cavehousetulsa.com

Secret tunnels, outlaws and ghosts are all part of the classic lore surrounding the Tulsa Cave House. The quirky, craggy house built into the side of a hill started out as a Prohibition-era restaurant. It was rumored to have a hidden, underground speakeasy frequented by outlaw Pretty Boy Floyd and his crew. Today, the tunnel leading to that area is sealed off, and owner Linda Collier has the house — an architectural curiosity inside and out — open for tours by appointment. Guests can hear all the home's legends from Collier, who bought it more than 20 years ago.

📍 760 W. 13th St.

📞 (918) 585-1201

👉 TravelOK.com/EastMeetsWest

Cyrus Avery came up with the idea for the Mother Road, and his hometown honored the "Father of Route 66" with this plaza and a statue. Titled "East Meets West," the bronze shows the juxtaposition of old meeting new. It depicts Avery and his Model T frightening two horses pulling a wagon full of oil barrels. The detail is fascinating, right down to a bug smashed on the car's grill and a panicked Avery family cat. The pedestrian bridge leading to the statue features a Route 66 shield that makes a great photo op.

Tulsa Spotlight Theatre

📍 1381 Riverside Dr. 📞 (918) 587-5030

👉 TravelOK.com/TulsaSpotlightTheatre

See what is believed to be America's longest-running play, a family-friendly show called "The Drunkard," on a Saturday night at this theater. The old-fashioned melodrama calls for audience interaction, so kids can cheer and boo their little lungs out. You can even purchase stuffed tomatoes to throw at the villain. Reservations are required for the café-style seating, and you can purchase food to eat during the show. Even if you can't make a performance, the Bruce Goff-designed building is an art deco treasure worth seeing.

Route 66 Historical Village

📍 3770 Southwest Blvd. 📞 (918) 609-0405

👉 route66village.com

See a restored Frisco 4500 steam engine, passenger car and caboose at this outdoor attraction that celebrates Tulsa's oil and transportation history. It's built on the site of the 1901 oil strike that turned the city into the "Oil Capital of the World," and it has a new visitor center that opened in 2019. The spot is marked by America's tallest oil derrick, a 154-foot-tall structure built specifically for the village.

Ollie's Station Restaurant

📍 4070 Southwest Blvd. 📞 (918) 446-0524

👉 TravelOK.com/OlliesStationRestaurant

Kids will go crazy for this Old Route 66 staple where model trains chug along on elevated tracks and locomotive memorabilia fills the walls. Add in a daily lunch buffet loaded with classic American food like crispy fried chicken and mashed potatoes, and you've got a place everyone in the family will enjoy. The restaurant also serves up a mean breakfast all day. On the weekends, there's a morning breakfast buffet with unlimited bacon. (Yes, you read that right: unlimited bacon.)

Her Meltdown Diner

📍 4377 Southwest Blvd. 📞 (918) 313-8671

This cozy, 1950s-style diner is a Route 66 newcomer, but it's quickly made a name for itself with tasty grilled cheese sandwiches that feature five types of cheese. If you've got serious hunger, go for the Whole Hog. Served on Texas toast, it's piled high with pulled pork, ham and bacon and topped with owner Jim Hardcastle's special bluesberry barbecue sauce. Hardcastle, a former musician, chose the name "bluesberry" to honor his love of the blues.

SAPULPA

Sapulpa Historical Museum

📍 100 E. Lee Ave. 📞 (918) 224-4871

👉 sapulpahistory.org

Sapulpa's place at the intersection of Route 66 and U.S. Highway 75 once earned it the nickname "Crossroads of America." As a former railroad town, oil-boom town and Route 66 town, it's also a crossroads of Oklahoma history. The Sapulpa Historical Museum tells its story with elaborate dioramas depicting what the city looked like at various points in history. It's housed in a former three-story hotel, and themed guest rooms on the second floor reflect different aspects of Sapulpa's history.

Waite Phillips Filling Station Museum

📍 26 E. Lee Ave. 📞 (918) 224-4871

👉 sapulpahistory.org

Originally built in 1923 by oil man Waite Phillips, this restored station is home to artifacts from the city's history. You'll find two vintage automobiles, a 1930 Model A and a 1922 Buick delivery truck. There are also photos of the station and the local automobile industry through the years. If you want to look inside, check with the folks across the street at the Sapulpa Historical Museum so that they can let you in.

Heart of Route 66 Auto Museum

📍 13 Sahoma Lake Rd. 📞 (918) 216-1171

👉 heartofroute66.org

Opened in 2016, this museum is a classic car lover's paradise. From hot rods to military vehicles, there are some unusual and truly beautiful cars. The displays also include vintage photos and racing paraphernalia. The big attraction — and we do mean big — took a little longer to make its debut. In 2017, work was completed on what is believed to be the world's largest gas pump. While it does not actually pump gas, it is red, shiny, 66 feet tall (of course) and sits in front of the museum practically begging you to take a photo with it.

📍 HEART OF ROUTE 66 AUTO MUSEUM, SAPULPA

Rock Creek Bridge

📍 Rock Creek 📞 TravelOK.com/RockCreekBridge

Constructed in 1921, the charming Rock Creek Bridge is one of the state's best remaining examples of the steel truss architecture that was popular in the pre-World War II era. It originally served the Ozark Trail, a network of locally maintained roads and highways that existed before the federal highway system. The bridge became part of Route 66 in 1926 before being bypassed in 1952. It's still open to traffic but has a 4-ton weight limit and a 7.2-foot height limit — and it's quite a bit narrower than most drivers are used to these days.

BRISTOW

Bristow Historical Museum & Depot

📍 1 Railroad Pl. 📞 (918) 367-9335 📞 bristowhistory.org

Learn about Indian Territory, the discovery of oil and life in the early frontier town of Bristow in a museum located in a beautifully restored 1923 Frisco train depot. Parked out front is a red caboose that you can go inside. One of America's most famous cowboys once spent considerable time at this depot: country crooner Gene Autry worked there as a telegraph operator before he became a star.

Living Kitchen Farm

📍 25198 S. 481st W. Ave. 📞 (918) 284-8169

👉 livingkitchenfarmanddairy.com

Tucked away on a 400-acre farm just off the highway is one of Route 66's most out-of-the-ordinary culinary experiences. Living Kitchen Farm's meals are truly farm-to-table dinners, featuring ingredients grown and produced on the farm or at nearby farms. The nine-course meals each have a theme and a set menu, and you can tour the farm before dinner. The meals are offered April through December and fill up quickly, so keep an eye on the website to see when reservations are open.

StableRidge Vineyard & Winery

📍 1916 W. State Highway 66

📞 (918) 968-2568

👉 stableridgewinery.com

Stop at StableRidge Vineyard & Winery for a tasting of their wines, which are all made from Oklahoma-grown grapes. There are wines to suit a wide variety of tastes, but the most popular is Jeremiah's Red. This dessert wine is a blend of merlot, cabernet and blackberry. The tasting room and gift shop are located in a former Catholic church that was completed in 1902.

Rock Café

📍 114 W. Main St. 📞 (918) 968-3990

👉 rockcafe66.com

If you're a fan of the "Cars" movies (or just a fan of good food), a trip down Route 66 isn't complete without a meal at the Rock Café. There you'll find Dawn Welch, the café owner and beloved Route 66 personality who inspired the "Cars" character Sally Carrera. Former Walt Disney executive John Lasseter and his crew spent plenty of time at the café while creating the film, and memorabilia from the movie decorates the walls. The menu consists of classic diner fare and German-influenced items like Jägerschnitzel, a tasty dish of fried pork cutlets.

Visitors can bowl, play putt-putt or give laser tag a try at this entertainment complex that also has an arcade and a restaurant. A collection of vintage signs lines the walls, and out front, visitors can see the classic Route 66 Bowl sign that once sat along the Mother Road in Oklahoma City.

Chandler Route 66 Interpretive Center

📍 400 E. State Highway 66 📞 (405) 258-1300

👉 route66interpretivecenter.org

At this unique attraction, you can watch historic videos about Oklahoma's Route 66 while relaxing in vintage car seats or beds honoring Mother Road motels of the past. The building itself, a restored WPA-built armory from the 1930s, is also worth a close look. It's made from thick bricks of local sandstone and was once the home of the local National Guard battery.

McJerry's Route 66 Gallery

📍 306 Manvel Ave.

📞 (405) 240-7659 🌐 mcjerry66.com

Jerry McClanahan turned a childhood fascination with Route 66 into a lifelong passion, putting together popular Mother Road guidebooks and maps. In 2008, he opened his gallery, which showcases his original art and his impressive collection of Route 66 artifacts. McClanahan's pencil drawings, watercolor and oil paintings highlight a variety of Mother Road scenes.

Lincoln County Museum of Pioneer History

📍 717 Manvel Ave. 📞 (405) 258-2425

🌐 okpioneermuseum.org

Spread over three 100-year-old downtown buildings, this museum has diverse collections that include vintage printing equipment, Native American artifacts and works by local artists. Among its most memorable features are a marionette exhibit and puppet theater. They pay homage to a local teacher who created many of the marionettes to teach her students in the 1930s. On the second floor, you'll find a room filled with handmade quilts created by early Lincoln County residents.

Seaba Station Motorcycle Museum

📍 336992 E. State Highway 66

📞 (405) 258-9141 🌐 seabastation.com

More than 100 bikes dating back as far as 1909 fill this old DX gas station, including two used in the 2011 movie "Captain America: The First Avenger." The museum also has tons of vintage toys and Route 66 memorabilia. Out back is a bonus attraction: a rock structure said to have been the first plumbed outhouse west of the Mississippi.

No one's sure how to go about proving that little detail, so you'll just have to take their word for it.

Arcadia Round Barn

📍 107 E. State Highway 66

☎ (405) 396-0824

🌐 arcadiaroundbarn.com

Don't pass up the chance to see a unique piece of Mother Road history. Built in 1898 from native bur oak, this is the only truly round barn on Route 66. Outside are pieces of vintage farm equipment, and the lower level is an eclectic gift shop. It's the upstairs, though, that truly amazes. Make sure to get a look at the inside of the domed roof, which has a woven, basket-like appearance.

☎ (405) 928-7677 | 877-266-7677

🌐 pops66.com

Glowing like a beacon in the distance, POPS 66-foot-tall soda pop bottle is irresistible to travelers. In fact, it has become one of the state's most popular selfie spots. It's just the start of what you'll find at this gas station, diner and soda ranch, though. With more than 700 types of bottled soda, you're sure to find old childhood favorites. If you're too overwhelmed by the options, try local favorites Round Barn Root Beer or Triple "AAA" Root Beer.

EDMOND

Touch the Clouds

📍 E. Second St.

☎ (405) 341-4344 | (866) 341-4344

This magnificent bronze statue pays tribute to Touch the Clouds, a chief of the Miniconjou people. It was moved to a spot along Route 66 in 2015. Located just west of the University of Central Oklahoma campus, the 18-foot-tall piece is the work of internationally known sculptor Dave McGary and previously stood outside the Houston Astrodome.

👉 edmondhistory.org

Learn about Edmond's past at this free museum housed in a 1936 structure built of native sandstone by the Works Progress Administration. Kids will love the hands-on play areas at the Children's Learning Center, which features a miniature town set in 1889. There's even a great playground outside.

Blue Hippo

📍 1129 S. Broadway Ave.

☎ (405) 341-4344 | (866) 341-4344

Not much seems to be known about the origin of this longtime Edmond resident, but the giant fiberglass hippopotamus picked up the nickname "Buddy" somewhere along the way. Back in his younger days, the local kids would sometimes relocate him as a prank, but he's pretty sedentary these days. You'll find him sitting right off the street in downtown Edmond, forever at the ready for a photo op.

Bricktown Entertainment District

📍 E of Downtown 📞 (405) 236-8666

👉 welcometobricktown.com

Take time out from your journey down Route 66 to play in this bustling district. You can take a water taxi around the area or watch an Oklahoma City Dodgers game at Chickasaw Bricktown Ballpark (known to locals as “The Brick”). Hotels, restaurants, bars and attractions are packed so close, you won’t even have to move the car.

American Banjo Museum

📍 9 E. Sheridan Ave. 📞 (405) 604-2793

👉 americanbanjomuseum.com

With the largest collection of banjos on public display in the world, this museum is a fascinating slice of Americana. Interactive exhibits follow the banjo’s evolution. Instruments from every era of its history are displayed along with songbooks, sheet music, photographs and other memorabilia.

Oklahoma City National Memorial & Museum

📍 620 N. Harvey Ave. 📞 (405) 235-3313

👉 memorialmuseum.com

This solemn but beautiful site honors those who were killed, those who survived and those changed forever on April 19, 1995, with the bombing of the Alfred P. Murrah Federal Building. Dedicated to education, the highly interactive museum tells the story of what happened on that morning. You will walk through that morning and see the sights and hear the sounds of what the people in Oklahoma City have worked to overcome. You will hear from investigators, rescuers, survivors and family members who lost loved ones. The museum does require timed ticket reservations, which can be made online.

Cheever’s Cafe

📍 2409 N. Hudson Ave. 📞 (405) 525-7007

👉 cheeverscafe.com

During Route 66’s heyday, this stylish Art Deco building served as the Cheever family’s florist shop. These days, it’s home to one of Oklahoma City’s most beloved restaurants. Cheever’s Cafe specializes in comfort food with a contemporary twist. Perhaps the best example — and the perfect entrée for your Route 66 journey — is the café’s take on chicken-fried steak. The hand-breaded top sirloin is served over red-skinned, garlic mashed potatoes and smothered in jalapeño cream gravy.

Tower Theatre

frequently. If you can't work a show into your schedule, you'll still want to stop by for a look at the marquee and a selfie with the fun robot statue that sits across the street.

Oklahoma City Asian District

📍 Classen Blvd. between 23rd St. & 30th St.

👉 okcasiandistrict.com

Route 66 runs through Oklahoma City's Asian District, which has become known as one of the best places in the country to get pho. The complexly flavored Vietnamese soup is available in and around the district at beloved eateries like Pho Lien Hoa and VII Pho.

Gold Dome Building

📍 1112 N.W. 23rd St.

You can't go inside it these days, but you've still got to drive by for a look at this unusual landmark. Designed by innovative architect Buckminster Fuller, the building was constructed in 1958 as only the fifth geodesic dome in the world. It was a bank in the early days and has been home to many types of businesses over the years.

Milk Bottle Building

📍 2426 N. Classen Blvd. 👉 nps.gov/subjects/travelroute66

Squeezed onto a tiny piece of land on a busy city thoroughfare, this tiny brick building has been around since 1930. It was around 1948, though, when its crowning glory was added: a giant metal milk bottle perched on top. Over the years, the bottle has been painted to advertise various dairy businesses (most recently, Braum's).

Route 66 Park

📍 9901 N.W. 23rd St. 📞 (405) 297-2211 👉 okc.gov/parks

Stop to stretch your legs at this lovely park along the shores of Lake Overholser. There's a playground with a huge jungle gym for the kids, several small ponds and a skate park. Visit the plaza, where an oversized map traces Route 66 across the country, then climb to the top of the Cyrus Avery Observation Tower for a bird's-eye view of the park and lake.

Tim's Drive Inn

📍 5037 N. MacArthur Blvd. 📞 (405) 789-5410

👉 TravelOK.com/TimsDriveInn

Made with thick fry bread, Indian tacos are an Oklahoma favorite. You can grab one to go at this drive-in, a Warr Acres mainstay that's also known for its tasty, old-fashioned hamburgers, foot-long chili dogs and shakes.

BETHANY

Stray Dog Cafe

📍 6722 N.W. 39th Expy. 📞 (405) 470-3747

Each meal starts with a complimentary bowl of popcorn at this fun downtown spot. It's always hopping, and the tasty burgers, sandwiches and hot dogs make it easy to see why. The hearty, three-egg omelets are popular with the breakfast crowds, as are the fresh-made cinnamon rolls that are available on Saturday mornings.

YUKON

Green Chile Kitchen Route 66

📍 12 E. Main St. 📞 (405) 265-4346

👉 greenchilekitchen.com

While green and red chiles might be expected further west on Route 66, this Yukon eatery makes excellent use of the flavorful peppers. You'll find New Mexican favorites like green chile stew, carne adovada and Frito pie. And for dessert, there's sweet-and-spicy green chile apple pie. It's served à la mode with a red chile honey drizzle.

The Lokal Yukon

📍 10 W. Main St. Ste. 165 📞 (405) 494-9870

👉 [thelokal yukon.com](http://thelokal yukon.com)

Try "modern Okie cuisine" right on the Mother Road. The Lokal Yukon specializes in Oklahoma favorites with a twist — like the fried deviled eggs, a perfectly crispy treat filled with a relished mustard mix. For the main course, there's bacon-wrapped bison meatloaf or bone-in pork chops topped with blueberry bourbon barbecue sauce.

Yukon Historical Museum

📍 110 N. Third St. 📞 (405) 354-1921

👉 TravelOK.com/YukonHistoricalMuseum

The city of Yukon has quite the history. It has a rich Czech heritage, a spot on Route 66 and the Chisholm Trail, and a mega-famous former resident in country music star Garth Brooks. Learn more about it at this free museum, part of which is located in three railroad cars on Route 66.

👉 TravelOK.com/YukonVeteransMuseum

Learn the personal stories of men and women who fought for America's freedom at this museum. It's packed with uniforms, flags and other gear, much of which was donated by local veterans and their families. There's something from every branch of the military, and the artifacts date as far back as the Civil War.

📍 EXPRESS CLYDESDALES RANCH, YUKON

Express Clydesdales Ranch

📍 12701 W. Wilshire Blvd. 📞 (405) 350-6404

👉 expressclydesdales.com

With hooves the size of dinner plates, the massive, powerful Clydesdale is one of the most awe-inspiring horse breeds on earth. You can meet these gentle giants at their historic home, a barn built in 1936 and restored by Amish carpenters in 1998. These aren't just any Clydesdales, though. They've been named world champions, marched in the Tournament of Roses and Macy's Thanksgiving Day parades and chauffeured the Duke and Duchess of Cambridge during their visit to Calgary.

EL RENO

Johnnie's Hamburgers & Cones

📍 301 S. Rock Island Ave. 📞 (405) 262-4721

👉 TravelOK.com/JohnniesGrill2

El Reno has long been known for its fried onion burgers, which feature fresh beef patties with caramelized onions smashed in for extra flavor. Johnnie's Grill, which opened in 1946, is one of a triumvirate of the town's top-notch burger joints. If you're not in a burger mood, Johnnie's is also known for its hot dogs. The most popular iteration is covered in meaty chili and sweet, mustard-and-pickle-based slaw.

Robert's Grill

📍 300 S. Bickford Ave. 📞 (405) 262-1262

👉 TravelOK.com/RobertsGrill

In business since 1926, Robert's Grill is the eldest of El Reno's fried onion burger joints. It's light on seating but heavy on flavor. Snag a seat at the 14-stool lunch counter to see the onion burger-making process up close. The folks at Robert's also cook up a mean batch of chili. You can order a bowl or get it on your burger, coney, tater tots or fries.

Sid's Diner

📍 300 S. Choctaw Ave. 📞 (405) 262-7757

👉 sidsdinerelreno.blogspot.com

If you're a fan of television food shows, you might be familiar with Sid's Diner, whose juicy onion burgers have appeared on Food Network's "Top 5 Restaurants" and Travel Channel's "Man v. Food." You'll want to partake of a burger, of course. But don't miss out on the fresh-cut fries — served in portions big enough to split — and thick milkshakes made out of real ice cream. (The chocolate-peanut butter shake comes highly recommended.)

El Reno Mother Road Monument

📍 W. Wade St. and S. Choctaw Ave.

📞 (405) 262-4070 👉 elrenotourism.com

In 2018, the City of El Reno added a 10-foot, three-dimensional Route 66 sign that has made downtown a premier photo-op destination. The number 66 on the sign is cut out, leaving room for visitors to sit inside, and there's a restored caboose parked behind it.

Canadian County Historical Museum

📍 300 S. Grand Ave. 📞 (405) 262-5121

👉 canadiancountymuseum.com

Take a walk through history at this museum complex made up of restored historic buildings. The two-story El Reno Hotel, built in 1892, and Rock Island Depot, constructed in 1907, are now home to exhibits and artifacts. There's also the first Mennonite church in Oklahoma Territory, built in 1893. And revisit pioneer history in the one-room Possum Holler School. You can even ride around El Reno on the Heritage Express Trolley, a restored 1924 Brill Motor Car.

Guardian of the Mother Road Mural

👉 TravelOK.com/GuardianOfTheMotherRoad

Just off the Mother Road on the west side of El Reno, you'll find a vibrant, 50-foot mural. It's painted on an old cinderblock wall that once served as the screen for a drive-in theater. Designed by Tulsa-based multimedia artist Rick Sinnett, the mural features the Oklahoma state bird, the scissortail flycatcher.

Historic Fort Reno

📍 7107 W. Cheyenne St. 📞 (405) 262-3987 👉 fortreno.org

Soak in the varied and fascinating history of this fort established in 1874 to facilitate relations with the Cheyenne and Arapaho tribes. Stop at the visitor center and museum to see vintage weapons and art, along with an exhibit on the famed buffalo soldiers who made their home at the fort. You'll also want to make time to tour the beautiful historic district that includes the Post Cemetery and Post Chapel. A visitor favorite, the stunning chapel was built by prisoners of war kept at the fort in the 1940s. It is meticulously crafted and features a rich, exposed-wood interior.

CALUMET

Cherokee Trading Post, Travel Mart & Restaurant

📍 301 S. Walbaum Rd. 📞 (405) 884-2502

👉 cherokeetrade.com

Stunning Native American jewelry, handcrafted pottery and Pendleton blankets are among the treasures you'll find at this store that opened in 1963. With a travel mart and a restaurant, the complex is truly a one-stop shop. At Cherokee Restaurant, you can enjoy classic diner food along with Oklahoma favorites like Indian tacos and buffalo burgers. For dessert, there's coconut cream pie or one of the massive cinnamon rolls.

Muffler Men Mural

📍 State Highway 66, Calumet

👉 TravelOK.com/MufflerMenMural

Large, fiberglass sculptures that have come to be known as Muffler Men have long been popular roadside attractions on Route 66. In 2019, a set of cutout Muffler Men paintings by California-based artist John Cerney and collaborator Scott Farmer were installed right along the highway. You can stop for a selfie with these three 18-foot-tall, two-dimensional characters, which include popular Muffler Men Paul Bunyan and the Uniroyal Gal plus a dancing gas station attendant.

GEARY

Pony Bridge

📍 U.S. Highway 281 👉 TravelOK.com/PonyBridge

Its official name is the William H. Murray Bridge, but this distinct bridge spanning the South Canadian River has long been known as Pony Bridge. Why? Because it was built using pony trusses which don't connect at the top. At 3,944 feet, it's the longest bridge on Oklahoma's stretch of Route 66. It even made a brief appearance in the 1939 film "The Grapes of Wrath."

HINTON

Red Rock Canyon Adventure Park

📍 116 Red Rock Canyon Rd. 📞 (405) 542-6344

👉 redrockcanyonadventurepark.com

Rugged red canyon walls frame this picturesque park where you can hike, fish and camp. If you explore the California Road Trail, you can see wagon wheel ruts made by settlers traveling to California in search of gold in the 1840s and 1850s. The park is especially beautiful in the fall when the trees turn vibrant shades of yellow, burnt orange and red. There are full-hookup and semi-modern RV campsites along with plenty of tent campsites available.

Deer Creek Market/Nutopia

📍 109 W. Main St., Hydro 📞 (405) 663-2354

👉 nutopianutsandmore.com

With a huge selection of Oklahoma-grown goodies, this store is a beacon for travelers suffering from the munchies. It's known for its wide selection of Oklahoma-farmed peanuts from the folks at Nutopia, who have been around since the business formed in 1942 as the Johnson Peanut Company. You can even purchase gift packages to take home to Mom — or to rip open and devour a few miles down the road.

Lucille's Service Station

📍 State Highway 66 👉 TravelOK.com/LucillesServiceStation

This 1920s-era, two-story gas station was once the domain of Lucille Hamons, who ran it for nearly 60 years. Hamons' longevity and kindness to travelers earned her the title "Mother of the Mother Road." You can't go inside these days, but you can stop for a look around and a photo with the distinctive building.

WEATHERFORD

P Bar Farms the Maze

📍 1002 Old 66 Rd. 📞 (405) 556-1069 🌐 pbarfarms.com

This farm is the place to be in the fall. It's home to one of the oldest corn mazes in Oklahoma. During October, part of the maze is haunted after dark. (It's not too terrifying, but if you've got little ones, it's probably best to visit during the daytime hours.) There's also a petting zoo, train ride, sunflower field, a hayride to a pumpkin patch and a farmyard full of other fun activities. For those who want to experience a little slice of life on the farm, there is also a farmhouse available for rent year-round.

Lucille's Roadhouse

📍 1301 N. Airport Rd. 📞 (580) 772-8808

🌐 lucillesroadhouse.com

Stop for classic Route 66 fare like burgers and chicken-fried steak at this retro-cool restaurant whose exterior stands in homage to nearby Lucille's Service Station. Choose one of three uniquely styled rooms to dine in: the old-school diner, the classic steakhouse or the laid-back lounge. Each has its own charm, but the diner's flashy Route 66 graphics provide the best selfie-snapping material.

Stafford Air & Space Museum

As you drive through western Oklahoma, you'll often see giant wind turbines, their blades turning rapidly in the powerful Oklahoma wind. If you've ever wanted a closer look, stop by this park, which has a turbine blade on display. (Not to ruin the suspense, but it turns out they're a LOT bigger than they look from a distance.)

👉 cherokeegifts.com

Established in 1966, this Route 66 stalwart has long been known for its ample supply of American Indian jewelry, art and other collectibles. There's also a big selection of Route 66 memorabilia and cowboy boots of every shape and color. While you're there, check out the field just east of the building to see bison roaming the plains.

White Dog Hill Restaurant

📍 22901 N. State Highway 66 📞 (580) 323-6922

👉 whitedoghill.com

It's hard to imagine a Route 66 restaurant with better ambiance than this little spot on a hill just north of the highway. The 1925-era building — a former golf course clubhouse — is made of brick and native red sandstone. It was renovated without losing any of its old-school charm, and the view of the southwestern Oklahoma prairie literally stretches for miles. The menu is carefully cultivated, as are the delicious cheeseboard appetizers. Grilled steaks and other meats make up most of the tasty entrées. After dinner, grab a drink and settle on the patio's Adirondack chairs to enjoy sweeping sunset views. The restaurant is open for dinner only Wednesday through Saturday, and reservations are recommended.

Mohawk Lodge Indian Store

📍 22702 N. State Highway 66 📞 (580) 323-2360

👉 TravelOK.com/MohawkLodgeIndianStore

Part museum and part store, Mohawk Lodge Indian Store was the first trading post in Indian Territory. It's been around in one form or fashion since 1892. Before moving to its present location in 1940, the store started in nearby Colony as an outlet for Cheyenne women to sell their handmade creations. The folks there still buy, sell and trade only authentic American Indian crafts and artifacts. There are also many fascinating items — like historic photographs and museum-quality vintage clothing — that are on display but not for sale.

McLain Rogers Park & Historic Amphitheater

📍 S. 10th St. & Jaycee Ln. 📞 (580) 323-4572

👉 clintonokla.org

During the 1930s, new facilities sprang up around the state, built by employees of the public works programs created by President Franklin D. Roosevelt's New Deal. With its art deco entrance sign, outdoor amphitheater and other historic structures, the park is an excellent example of the carefully crafted pieces those laborers produced. While you're there, play a round of miniature golf on the fun, Route 66-themed course.

Oklahoma Route 66 Museum

📍 2229 W. Gary Blvd. 📞 (580) 323-7866 👉 route66.org

With classic cars, a retro diner scene and a gift shop loaded with goodies, this museum is all you dreamed it would be. The chronologically ordered exhibits lead you through the history of the Mother Road, and tunes from each era are pumped through speakers as you walk through. There are tons of selfie-ready spots, and few can resist stopping to pose "behind the wheel" of the red convertible Corvette sign. There's also a huge gift shop full of Route 66 souvenirs.

Jigg's Smokehouse

👉 jiggssmokehouse.com

Folks come from far and wide to dine on — and snap a selfie with — the Woolly Burger. While the two-pound, big-as-your-head ham and sausage sandwich might be Jigg's most photographed item, their most popular sandwich is actually the BBQ Beef. It's filled with tender beef brisket doused with Jigg's tasty sauce. While you're there, stock up on the ultimate road trip food: beef jerky.

SEE THE WASHITA BATTLEFIELD, GO FOR A SWIM AT A STATE PARK OR EXPLORE THE WICHITA MOUNTAINS

Want to see more of Oklahoma while you're cruising Route 66? Here are some Western Oklahoma adventures that are just off the beaten path.

30 MINUTES AWAY ▶ Washita Battlefield National Historic Site, Cheyenne

Visit the site of Custer's 1868 surprise attack on the Southern Cheyenne village of Peace Chief Black Kettle. You can take a self-guided tour along a 1.5-mile trail.

(580) 497-2742 | nps.gov/waba

40 MINUTES AWAY ▶ Fort Cobb State Park, Fort Cobb

Take some time to relax along the shores of Fort Cobb Lake. The shallow swim beaches are perfect for splashing around, and the 18-hole golf course offers stunning lake views.

(405) 643-2249 | TravelOK.com/FortCobb

1 HOUR, 10 MINUTES AWAY ▶ Wichita Mountains Wildlife Refuge, Lawton

Take some time to drive through this breathtaking, 59,000-acre span where you can see bison, longhorns and other wildlife.

(580) 429-3222 | fws.gov/refuge/wichita\_mountains

FOSS

Foss State Park

📍 10252 State Highway 44 📞 (580) 592-4433

👉 TravelOK.com/Foss

If you're ready to get off the road and spend some time in nature, head to this oasis. The unique state park is a true showcase of Oklahoma's diverse terrain. In one area, you'll find Foss Lake and its sandy swim beach with thatched-roof palapas.

In another, thickly wooded areas provide great cover for a leisurely hike or trail ride. If you're traveling in an RV, the park has plenty of peaceful campsites, including many overlooking the lake.

CANUTE

Cotton Boll Motel Sign

📍 605 State Highway 66 📞 (580) 472-3111

The small town of Canute was once a popular Route 66 stop that was home to several gas stations and motels. The Cotton Boll Motel has been turned into a private residence, and while its classic sign no longer glows with neon, you can still see it as you pass by.

ELK CITY

Country Dove Gift & Tea Room

📍 610 W. Third St. 📞 (580) 225-7028

👉 TravelOK.com/CountryDove

Stop for a sandwich and soup at this charming lunch spot in a converted two-story house. Each meal is accompanied by a square of delicious lemon jello, a creamy concoction that has piqued many a traveler's curiosity. (No, they won't give up the recipe, though many have asked.) The friendly folks and lace-trimmed decor will make you feel right at home, and the light, fluffy French silk pie will leave you wanting more. The store sells a little bit of everything, from antiques to books to arts and crafts.

National Route 66 Museum Complex

📍 2717 W. Third St. 📞 (580) 225-6266

👉 visitelkcity.com

With what is believed to be the world's largest Route 66 sign out front, this complex is hard to miss — and it definitely shouldn't be missed. After posing for your sign selfie, you'll also want to snap one with Myrtle the Kachina Doll. Made of oil drums and scrap metal, the 14-foot-tall Myrtle has resided along Route 66 since 1962, but she looks darn good for her age. Inside the museum, exhibits tell the story of the Mother Road in each of the eight states it runs through. Its exhibits use a combination of murals and memorabilia to set scenes from Route 66 history. The transportation collection includes classic cars and motorcycles from many eras. The complex is also home to three other museums. There's the Old Town Museum, a Victorian mansion with exhibits about the history of the town and Route 66; the Farm & Ranch Museum, with its vast collection of antique tools and farm equipment; and the Blacksmith Museum, where you can learn how blacksmiths forged objects from steel or iron.

ERICK

Roger Miller Mural

📍 101 S. Sheb Wooley St.

📞 (580) 928-2457

This mural honors Roger Miller with five lifelike images of the legendary musician. Miller, who grew up in Erick, was an 11-time Grammy winner and Country Music Hall of Fame member who wrote and performed country-pop hits like “King of the Road” and “Dang Me.” Miller wrote music and lyrics for the Tony-award-winning Broadway hit Big River. He also voiced the rooster Allana-Dale in the Disney animated classic Robin Hood, for which he wrote and performed three songs.

SAYRE

Beckham County Courthouse

READ UP ON OKLAHOMA

While Route 66 runs right through the heart of Oklahoma, there's much more to see and do around the state. To learn more about all Oklahoma has to offer, check out the Oklahoma Tourism & Recreation Department's other free publications.

The annual Travel Guide and Oklahoma State Parks & Outdoor Guide feature more than 200 pages of suggestions for only-in-Oklahoma adventures, stunning photography and listings for attractions and lodging around the state.

The Oklahoma Motorcycle Guide features some of the state's best rides, motorcycle events and destinations. The Oklahoma Indian Country Guide highlights the history and culture of the state's American Indian tribes and contains information on more than 100 attractions where visitors can learn more about the tribes' past and present.

The department's guides are available at Tourism Information Centers, Oklahoma State Parks and many tourist attractions and accommodations throughout the state.

You can also have the guides shipped to your home free of charge by visiting TravelOK.com/Brochures or calling (800) 652-6552. More than 70 other free brochures, guides and maps are also available on the website, including many that feature Route 66 cities and attractions.
